CARLTON MAY RUN.

HE IS NOT WHOLLY AVERSE TO CON-GRESSIONAL LIFE.

OPPOSES THE SUB-TREASURY SCHEME

And Regards the Candidacy of Tom Hard man as the Greatest Boon Which Has Fallen to Georgia in Years.

Washington, June 16.—[Special.]—Mr. Carlton returned from Georgia today During his stay in the state he visited a number of the counties in his district, and in each the people requested that he be a candidate for re-elec-tion. He replied that he had already declined to be a candidate, but many of his friends told him the convention would nominate him anyhow. Indeed there is such a mixture in the eighth that it seems probable from this end of the line that Mr. Carlton will be returned.

ON THE SITUATION. Speaking of the political situation in Georgia, Mr. Carlton said: 'The bottom has dropped out of the sub treasury scheme. I found a great reaction among the farmers. They have gotten light on this subject, and they see that it will not only work to their injury, but to the injury of the country."

"What about Hardeman for governor?" "His announcement has been welcomed in every section of the state. He is a farmer, and was for a number of years president of the State Agricultural society. He has a strong following among the farmers. He is an unflinching and uncompromising democrat, and if he goes before the people and shows up the sub-treasury scheme, which other candidates are standing on, he will be elected."

WHAT MEANS THIS SENTENCE? "If he will organize a campaign line with the true interests of the people, guarding and forewarning them against those things which tend to their irreparable injury, and encouraging them to maintain that high prestige which Georgia as an agricultural state has attained throughout the south, the effect thereof will be just such a campaign as the state now needs, and will be felt even to the election of a United States senator." THE PEOPLE AWAKING.

"I found in Georgia," continued Mr. Carlton, "great danger from schemes which politicians have devised for the mere purpose of riding into political position of damaging the best interests of the state, and hence such a campaign as I understood Colonel Hendersen is about to inaugurate comes at most opportune time, and will redound to the good of the state. The farmers are an intelligent people, and when shown the right way are not slow to flow therein, and as such they are fast finding out and becoming disgusted with those men who are only using them for political pur-

CLE MENTS IS CONFIDENT. Congressman Clements returned today. He says the people of his district are taking a great interest in the pending political questions. They are studying and reading them with unusual interest, but so far as he could observe, there was no great excitement. He says they are seeking to ascertain what is best, and not hastily committing themselves to any new measure. He seems quite confident that Senator Colquitt will attend the Oxford college convention the latter part of this week.

MR. GRIMES AT WORK.
Mr. Grimes' bill for a hundred thousand dollar public building at Columbus passed the senate Saturday upon Senator Pasco's motion. The Columbus federal court bill is now pending in the senate, and the chances are that Mr. Grimes' friends in that body will soon have it passed. It has already passed the house. The public building bill will probably not go to the president until the senate has acted upon the court bill. With a court the president cannot find sufficient reason to eto the bill, as he has done with others. Grimes has been quite fortunate with his local legislation this session.

IT IS REED'S WAY. The house committee on rules met this morning and decided to take up the bank ruptcy bill tomorrow. After they had met Speaker Reed sent word to Mr. Blount, a mem ber of the committee, that a meeting had been called. Mr. Blount rushed into the committee room, but as he got in the three republican started out, and Cannon cooly told Mr. Blount what they had done, and gave him permission to tell Mr. McMillin, the other member. The minority has no right. Indeed Reed doesn' seem to be aware there is any minority.

A BLACK EYE IN THE WEST. A prominent western republican is quoted by the Critic as saying: "The republican party will receive a great set-back this fall, and it will be due to the McKinley bill and the unsatisfactory appointments made by Harrison The hand-writing is on the wall, and this time it will be the farmer who will translate the true meaning of the inscription: 'In Iowa, Minnesota and California.' The change sentiment is growing, and the people who have always voted the republican ticket will, because of the tariff, be found with democratic ballots in their hands. The senate, you will note, has lowered the duties on at least 200 ar. ticles, and I think the finance committee is more in harmony with the mass of western voters than McKinley's ways and means com mittee. Senator Allison said to a friend of mine the other night that if he could he would further reduce taxation, but the party could not afford to do it just now."

THE SILVER BILL.

Senator Jones Says no one Will be Prevented

From Speaking on It. WASHINGTON. June 16 .- It is said that there will be no vote on the silver bill or any of the pending amendments in the senate today. Senator Jones, of Nevada, says that severa Senators desire to speak yet, in-cluding Senators Allison and Wal-cott and that, notwithstanding the agreement to close the debate at 3 o'clock, no one will be prevented from speaking who ex presses a desire to do so. He thinks the fina vote will not be reached for two or three days Questioned as to the character of the bill the nate would pass, Senator Jones answere

Questioned as to the character of the bilk the senate would pass, Senator Jones answered that it seemed quite probable now that it would be a bill providing for free coinage. He said the effort to secure the pledges of a majority of the senate to vote against free coinage has been a failure. The inevitable result, he thought, would be the passage of a bill including that feature. The list of republican senators, favorable to free coinage, as given by one of them, includes Messrs. Walcott, Teller, Jones, Stewart, Plum, Ingalls, Mitchell, Power, Sanders and Cameron.

Senator Blair proposed two amendments to the silver bill today. One was to strike out all after the enacting clause and insert a section directing the secretary of the treasury, under the provisions of the act of 1878, to purchase silver bullion at the market price thereof and coin $4,000,000 monthly. This is the solution of the silver problem which Mr. Stewart said, in the debate last week, would be acceptable to him. The other amendment is to section one of the pending bill, and provides that there shall be no legal tender in the United States except gold and silver coin.

and the request assented to after remarks by Messrs. Edmunds and Vest.

The deficiency appropriation bill for pensions and the census were reported and passed.

Mr. Blair introduced a joint resolution requesting the president of the United States to institute an international conference, to meet in Washington, in February, 1891, with a view to the formation of an international alliance for the suppression of slavery and the slave trade, and of traffic in intoxicating liquors, firearms and destructive substances with uncivilized people, and to provide for the establishment of schools of common knowledge, art and industry. Also to secure the disarmament of nations and the establishment of international courts, and appropriating $100,000 for the expenses of the conpriating $100,000 for the expenses of the con-ference. Laid on the table, Mr. Blair an-noun-ing his intention to address the senate hereafter on the subject.

THE HOUSE SILVER BILL.

The house silver bill was taken up, and Mr Daniel resumed his speech begun by him last Friday. Alluding to the expected passage of Panel resumed his speech begun by him has Friday. Alluding to the expected passage of the bill today, he said that the day was one of great victory and triumph for the representatives of democracy and for those who, through good report and evil report, had steadfastly maintained the money of the people. It was a day in which a compliment was paid the legislation of 1878, known as the Bland act, greater than anything that could be embodied in language. Those who had opposed the policy of that act in the beginning, and those who had continued in opposition thereto through many years, now came forward to pour their libations, of praise on the altar of the triumphant democracy, that was the author of that bill and that had been its unyielding friend. That the world moved, and that this was a land of progress had never been better demonstrated than by the fact that the great leader of the republican financial policy in the United States (alluding to Senator Sherman), who had carried the single gold standard over two continents, had come forward in his speech and lain down, at the feet of the double single gold standard over two continents, had come forward in his speech and lain down, at the feet of the double standard, and proclaimed that he was at last an advocate of silver money. He concluded by an expression of his belief that the coinage of silver was the only safe and proper exit out of the problem. If it was not safe, the fact could only be shown by what was, to a degree, an experiment. But it was an experiment that could be made without peril, as there would be ample time to correct any evil tendency that might be developed before any harm would happen. And it was an experiment necessitated by the demands of the times, and by the disordered system of finance into which the country had been thrown.

Mr. Allison next addressed the senate. The house bill, lie said, which was now the pending bill (all other bills and amendments having passed away), was substantially the bill proposed by the finance committee when it made its report originally, with the exception that the heave had added to it a prevision for the support of the superior of the proposed of the superior of the superior of the proposed of the superior of the s passed away), was substantially the bill proposed by the finance committee when it made its report originally, with the exception that the house had added to it a provision for redeeming in bullion, and a provision relating to free coinage, when silver should come to pay. There were two vital amendments made to the bill as it was originally reported from the finance committee. As he had assented to the original report he expected to vote for that report substantially, as he believed it was the wisest and, on the whole, the best solution of the question. The bill having been referred to the finance committee for the second time, the committee had reported back amendments, one striking out the section of the bill relating to free coinage, after a certain point, and one inserting a provision that the act shall terminate at the expiration of the upears. He would support the amendment to strike out the sixth section, but he would not support the amendment limiting the operation of the bill to ten years. He regarded that limitation is unnecessary, as imperilling the efficiency of the bill. He did not believe that the bill would last ten years, or anything approaching ten years. He regarded the pending measure, and the unanimity with which it was supported, as a complete justification of the legislation of 1878, which contemplated a minimum monthly coinage of 2,000,000 silver dollars and a maximum of 4,000,000.

The contest was between those who sought to destroy and outlaw silver, and those who sought to put it on an equality with gold. That was the contest, and he was for the full and complete restoration of silver as one of the coin metals of the world, and was willing to and complete restoration of silver as one of the coin metals of the world, and was willing to do whatever he could do to promote that most desirable object. He could not vote for the desirable object. He could not vote for the free coinage of silver at this time, or at any time in the near future. He could not do so until every effort to secure the use of silver by the commercial nations of the world was exhausted.

Some reference having been made to the Some reference having been made to the democratic platform of 1888, Mr. Vest remarked that if the democratic party said nothing on the silver question in its platform of 1888, it was not because it had receded from the position which it had always held. It was because President Cleveland was an eastern man, a New York man, who did not sympathize with the majority of his party on that question. Mr. Cleveland had come to the presidency imbued with the prejudices of New York bankers, and was, in one sense (as far as York bankers, and was, in one sense (as far as histophinologisliver was concerned), a sectional man. He had reason to believe now that Mr. Cleveland was better informed on the subject, and was in sympathy with the people of the great west, and of a majority of the democratic

The house then went into committee of the whole, (Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, in the chair), on the sundry civil appropriation bill. Judge Sayers, of Texas, offered an amendment making a specific appropriation instead of an indefinite appropriation for the payment of back pay and bounty.

Mr. Dockery, of Missouri, in supporting the amendment, said that an indefinite appropriation concealed the expenditure of $702,000. A similar clause in the deficiency bill concealed the expenditure of $390,000.

In the course of an extended political debate, Mr. McComas, of Maryland, predicted the passage of a law which would ensure a free ballot and fair count in the southern states.

Mr. Sayers's amendment, as far as it affected back pay, was agreed to—71 to 66; but as far as it affected bounty was lost—68 to 70.

Mr. Bynum, of Indiana, offered an amendment to enforce the eight-hour law in the government printing office. Ruled out on a point of order.

Pending action on the bill, the committee rose and the house, at 5:20, adjourned. A republican caucus was announced for this national election law bill recently drawn up by Henry Cabot Lodge and Jonathan Rowell, was made public to lay. It is about as has been ontlined in these dispatches. It is sevety-six pages in length, and besides providing for federal supervisors, whose returns shall be repted over those of the state officers, it provides for the punishment of hundreds of offenders, and severe punishment for purchasing votes or intimidating or even perspading men to vote.

AN INFAMOUS BILL.
"The bill," said Judge Crisp tonight, "is the most outrageous and iniquitous measure ever brought before congress for passage. It is so drawn as not to be enforced except on petition of 100 voters in a district, and as such a petition can only le gotten up in the south among the negroes, scallawags and carpet-baggers, it is intended only to apply to the south. It is simply a legal means by which the republican leaders expect to steal many southern districts, whether they receive the requisite number of votes or not, and thereby to perpetuate their power." INGALLS WILL DO GOOD WORK. The republican leaders expect to call up the bill on Friday next, and have it voted upon the following wednesday, allowing only five days for debate. While there are forty repub-licans in the house who are opposed to any such legislation, Reed will whip every one of them into line, and the bill will pass the house. In the senate, however, it is possible the bill will be defeated, as Ingalls today refused to be a party to the adoption of Reed's gag rules by the senate. Ingalls is a great stickler for senatorial courtesy, and would not, under any circumstances, use his power as presiding officer to shut off debate for partisan purposes.

SENATOR GORMAN TALKS. In speaking of the senator's position on the federal election law tonight, Senator Gorman, of Maryland, said: of Maryland, said:

"The federal election law bill will not become a law. The senate does the legislating for the country. Under the new Reed regime, the house passes bills, concocts schemes and the senate kills them. I believe the house will pass the federal election law bill, but you may depend upon it, the senate will never agree to it.

It will be passed by the house, in my opinion, to stir up feeling in the north against southern elections, and thus create political capital for the republican campaign orators to crow on. THE BILL SYNOPSIZED.

The Farmers Will Surprise Them EVANSVILLE, Ind., June 16 .- The farmer EVANSVILLE, Ind., June 16.—The farmer and labor organizations in this portion of Indiana are connected for the legislature and congress, in order to influence legislation in their interest. There is considerable uneasiness among the leaders of parties. It is said that there will be a great political sensation when nominations are made. In a few localities the prohibitionists will make separate nominations. Altogether the political situation is badly complicated.

FIFTY MEN PERISH

SENATOR INGALLS PROVES A TRUMP | THE MISTAKE OF A YOUNG MAN.

He Carries an Open Lamp While Trying to Rescue Imprisoned Miners, and a Spark Causes an Explosion.

DUNRAR, Pa., June 16 .- This morning at 11:10 o'clock an explosion shook the miners' dwelling on Hill Farm, in Fayette county, near this place, and hundreds of afirighted persons, who knew the sound too well, feared another mine disaster, and reasoned far too well. In a moment fearful news had spread that Hill Farm mines, owned by Philadelphia parties, had exploded. The low-browed hill from which the slope entered, shook from mouth to pit, and a score of miners' houses, like the fatal hill, shook for a moment, and then poured out their frenzied inmates by the hundreds. A rush was made to the mouth of the pit, but ingress was impossible as smoke, in dense volumes, was issuing forth.

Fifty-two miners had gone to work this morning, and were in the slope when the explosion occurred. Of these fifty-two, eighteen were in the left heading, and thirty-four in the right heading.

Those in the left heading, got out all right, the others were cut off and not one escaped. Fire damp, which exploded by an accidental spark from a miner's lamp was the cause of the disaster.

CAUSE OF THE EXPLOSION.

At 7 o'clock this morning the gangs turned in at the mines, the smaller gang drifting off to the left, while the larger, some thirty-five in number, drifted to the right and descended some 800 feet from the surface, and at least a mile from the opening. These two drifts are connected, but the connection is from the main stem, some helf a mile from the entrance. The miners, it seems, had been somewhat troubled with water, and an air shaft had been drilled from the surface to the juncture of the right and left shafts, where the water seemed to be most abundant. As the miners branched off from this point they knew that an air hole bad been drilled there that had not yet been broken into the mine, but they did not know that the shaft was to be broken in today.

A miner named Kerwin had been left in the right drift, near where that branch joined the miners' exit, and in the course of his labors broke into the perpendicular shaft. The mo-ment this was broken into a flood of water gushed out, and Kerwin and a man named Landy, standing by, yelled out to someone to save the men in the right drift, as the water was pouring down the hill in a stream, and he was pouring down the hill in a stream, and he feared they would be drowned. Young David Hayes, who had seen the affair, leaped forward at the call and turned down the left drift, in a deluge of water, to warn his endangered comrades below. Just as he passed the air shaft that had been broken into the rush of waters had changed to the ugly roar of the flood which blanched the cheeks of the men who stood behind and towards the light.

THE FIRE DAMP IGNITES. The flow of water had changed to a deadly volume of fire damp, and as young Hayes swung by the shaft a blazing light flashed through the shaft from end to end. It seemed that the daring youth carried an open-burning miner's lamp in his hat and he had hardly taken a step beyond the roaring shaft when a spark ignited the reservoir of deadly fluid, the spark ignited the reservoir of deadly haid, the fire damp, that had already accummulated, and he sank a corpse near the men whom he had hoped to save and whom he certainly doomed. In an instant an unquenchable fire sprang up in a nine-foot vein, just between the main entrance and on the right drift, for-ever shutting in the thirty-two men imprisoned ever shutting in the thirty-two men imprisoned there.

ever shutting in the tanty-two months place there.

Poor old David Hayes, father of the mistaken hero, driven mad by the fate of his son, and shed into the surphurous smoke and strangling fire damp, only to fall blindly by the side of his son, and to be drawn out an hour later with James Shearn, both recognized only by their wives. The fire, fanned by the air from the main drift, and from the fatal shaft itself, soon surpure into an awful conflagration.

the main drift, and from the fatal shaft itself, soon sprung into an awful conflagration.

The miners from the left drift escaped blackened and bruised, but safe, and they tell a fearful story of the scene; just before the blazing coal on the right could be seen a score of terrible faces walled in by flame. No man could pass and live. Willing hands and beauty warre was the contraction. could pass and live. Willing hands and hearts were not wanting on the outside and Clerk Cook, of the mine, with the mine inspector himself, headed a party of one hundred, who entered the main shaft, and after groping on for a quarter of a mile at least, were driven back again and again by the deadly gas, only to recover breath for a moment and again plunge in. They finally came up on two bodies and in. They finally came up on two bodies, and they were brought to the opening of the mine. They proved to be those of Shearn and Hayes, the elder. A volunteer corps worked steadily from noon until late tonight with no result but the two dead above named, and each trip but brought deeper despair to those above, and showed there was no hope and no one alive below. The corps of 100 was charged again and again as each exhausted squad staggered to the outer air, but all in vain. One man—Kelly—who had entered several times finally. Kelly-who had entered several times, finally from sheer exhaustion, fell into an open pit and was drawn out fatally injured.

At midnight the smoke and gas from the right shaft poured up the main exit in a broken volume, and after trials almost beyond human endurance the rescuing party gave up all hope of recovering their comrades' bodies from that entrance and turned their attention to the Ferguson mine, one and a half miles away. At this hour they are striving to penetrate from that mine, but the flames and moke balk their every effort.

smoke balk their every effort.

The universal and unwilling verdict from old miners about the shaft is that the entombed men have either been killed outright by the explosion or later by suffocation. The latter seems to be more probable, at least in part, as sounds were heard from the entombed men as late as 1 o'clock this afternoon. These grew weaker and weaker, however, and half an hour later even the most hopeful of the rescuers could hear nothing but his own heart-throbs. The men say that had they known the shaft was to be broken into, they would never have entered the mine, as they known the shart was to be broken into, they would never have entered the mine, as either water or gas would surely have followed, since in these regions gas always comes from the upper shale. The owners, however, and in fact some of the men themselves, say it was an accident, pure and simple, that could neither have been avoided nor stoned for simple, that could neither have been avoided nor atoned for.

The mines are owned by the Dunbar Furnace company, and the owners are all eastern men and employ about 150 men. Charles Parish, of Witkesbarre, is president, and H. A. Hill, of Dunbar, is superintendent. The latter has been here four months and seemed perfectly conversant with the mines, though the men say fire-damp has been more than plentiful in this region lately. Mr. Keaghley, the mine inspector, had made a thorough tour of the mine, but two weeks ago some of the men in a certain portion invariably carried safety lamps, but in other parts, as in the case of young Hayes, lamps were worn uncovered, as no danger was apprehended there. No definite reason or cause can be given for the disaster until the coroner's jury meets here, probably tomorrow. The disaster is the worst ever known in the Connellsville region, the nearest approach being the Leisin mine exposion seven years ago, when twenty-three were killed.

Augusta, Me., June 16.—The following letter from Secretary Blaine was received in this city today by Mayor Cony:

Washington, D. C., June 14, 1820.—Daniel A. Cony, Augusta: My Dear Sin-I neave your favor of the 4th Instant. You are in error in supposing that I am opposed to sugar being admitted free of duty. My objection is not to free sugar, but to the prosed method of making if free. It, in the pending tariff bill, suga is placed upon the free list, lest we give to certain countries a free market for $50,000,000 of their products, while they are not asked to open their markets to the free admission of a single dollar of American products. We ought to have in exchange for free sugar from certain countries a free market for open studies and provisions, besides various fabrics from all parts of our country. In fact, we ought to secure in return for free sugar, a market for S00,000 or $7,000,000 worth of serious amarket for s00,000 or $7,000,000 worth of serious and products. It would not require reciprocity treaties to secure this great boon. The tariff bill can contain all the necessary conditions. The legislative power is able to secure the desired end. Within the last twenty years we have given the countries south of us free admission for nearly $20,900,000 worth of their products without receiving a penny's advantage in exchange. If sugar be now made unconditionally free, we shall have given to the Latin-American countries free admission for $150,000,000 of their products. It is time, I think, to lookout for some reciprocal advantages. We are a very rich nation, but not rich enough to trade on this unequal basis. In great haste, sincerely yours,

An Exciting Scene in Commons During Which Mr. Balfour Retracts a Statement. LONDON, June 16 .- In the house of com mons tonight Mr. Balfour, replying to Mr. Dillon, denied that the police had charged upon and clubbed the people at New Tipperary for lighting bonfires to celebrate the marriage of William O'Brien. The police, he said, had put out the bonfires because they formed an struction in the street.

Messrs. Gill and Claney, nationalists, ques-tioned Mr. Balfour regarding the government's system of "shadowing" persons in Ireland.

They wanted to know how this shadowing could prevent boycotting.
Mr. Balfour replied that no one was shadowed unless he was knowned to be engaged in intimidation. The government would promise to reduce the system only on condition that the Parnellites promised to induce the promise to reduce the system only on condition that the Parnellites promised to induce the persons shadowed to abstain from intimidation. (Cheers from government members.)
Mr. Dillon—"If, after this brutal, abominable outrage, there is bloodshed, it will be upon your head."
Mr. Parnell asked Mr. Balfour to adopt the

Mr. Balfour—"Will Mr. Parnell undertake that these people shall not repeat their crime."

thut these people shall not repeat their crime."

This question brought out loud Parnellite cries of "what crime?"

Amid tremendous uproar, on the Parnellite side of the house, Mr. Dillon began an excited speech. He denounced Balfour and demanded an apology for the use of the word "crime."

A stormy scene ensued, in which Mr. Gill accused Balfour of lying, and Mr. Gladstone challenged him to prove his assertion that the liberals resorted to the practice of shadowing.

Mr. Balfour substituted the words "intimidating and boy-cotting" for "crime."

Finally the speaker appealed to the house, and the matter was dropped.

ONLY A FEW CHANGES.

The Senate Finance Committee and the Tariff Bill.

Washington, June 16.—Printed copies of the tariff bill, as amended by republican members of the senate finance committee up to Saturday night, were laid before the sub-committee today. It included the sugar and to-bacco schedules, and copies of these were given today to Senator Carlisle, representing the minority. Several changes were made today, and this will probably be the case every day until the bill gets into the senate. It is expected that the sub-committee will be able to report the measure Wednesday or Thursday.

Mr. McKinley said that the charges made in the house bill by the finance committee are comparatively few and unimportant. Senator Carlisle says he has not yet begun work on the report to be submitted by the minority, and that he will not do so until the entire bill has been placed in his hands. This need not delay the report of the bill to the senate by

THE STORM IN OHIO. Great Destruction of Property-Several Bridges Washed Away.

CIT:CINNATI, June 16 .- The storm which did so much damage in this city yesterday ap-pears to have extended over a wide area. Severe destruction of property is reported from Loveland, Hamilton, Milford and Batavia. Near the latter place the Ohio and Northwes-tern railroad track was washed out and a bridge is gone. The new Richmond and Rip-ley lost $10,000 each at Falmouth, Ky. Three boys fishing in a boat are missing, doubtless drowned. Covington, Bellevue, Dayton and Newport, Ky., had eighteen houses unroofed and two persons ve.e hurt. Thousands of acres of wheat, just ready to reap, are laid flat, and the loss will be great. It is safe to ear that the loss in Cinciunation within. say that the loss in Cincinnati and within a radius of fifty miles amounts to $200,000.

IT IS ASIATIC CHOLERA. Several New Cases and Four More Deaths at Madrin, June 16.—Much alarm is cocasioned by the continued spread of cholera at Puebla de Rugat. The authorities are making strong efforts to stamp out the disease, but so strong efforts to stamp out the disease, but so far have been unsuccessful, and new cases are reported daily. Yesterday there were four deaths from the disease, and nine new cases reported. The doctors at Puebla de Rugat are greatly overworked, and the authorities have telegraphed to Valencia, asking that physicians be sent from that city to aid. The supply of drugs is running short, and the town officials also telegraphed for a fresh supply from Valencia. The total number of cases thus far reported is ninety-one. One of the persons who field from the town for safety has died of the disease at Albaida. Dr. Candela, who is an expert, declares that the disease at Puebla de Rugat is true Asiatic cholera.

SAT DOWN ON M'COMAS.

The Republican Caucus Defeats the Anti-Gerrymandering Bill.

Washington, June 16.—The republican caucus tonight considered the national election law. It is ready to be reported to the house. Having disposed of this subject, the caucas next turned its attention to McComas's anti-gerrymandering bill. This was discussed at some length. Before the vote was taken many members had left the hall, so that the result, which was the defeat of the bill by a vote of twenty-two to twenty-six, was unsatisfactary to its friends, who held that it could not fairly be regarded as an indication of feeling of the entire party, and they will probably make another effort to have a reconsideration of the bill at a subsequent caucus.

A PITCHED BATTLE

BETWEEN THE RACES AT BROOKS

HOW THE TROUBLE ORIGINATED.

A Negro Is Accidentally Struck by a Rock Thrown by a White Man—The Negroes

Arm and a Fight Ensues BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 16 .- [Special.]-A keg of beer caused a small race riot today at Brookside, a small mining town, sixteen miles west of this city. A pitched battle was fought on the main street, between one hundred armed negroes on one side, and about seventy-rive white men on the other.

Tom Redmond, leader of the negroes, was killed and two or three others wounded. Tom Acres, white, received a slight wound on the head. He was the only white man hurt.

ORIGIN OF THE TROUBLE.

The trouble came about in this way. Yesterday a crowd of white men were on a wooded hill, near the town, drinking beer. They threw an empty keg down the hill, and were throwing rocks at it. One rock struck a party of negroes at the foot of the hill, and a dispute arose between the whites and blacks. One white man remarked that the negroes had better shoot them. The negroes said they would, and went home and armed themselves with rifles. NEGROES IN CHARGE OF THE TOWN. In five minutes thirty negroes were armed and patroling the streets of the town, making all sorts of threats. The whites armed them-selves, but the trouble was settled last night. This morning the disturbance was renewed. Tom Acres, a white man, met Jim McDowell, one of the negro leaders of the disturbance, and attempted to arrest him. Acres drew a pistol and would have killed McDowell, but about that time Tom Redmond, another negro-leader, appeared with a rifle in hand. Mc-Dowell seized Redmond's rifle and fired on Acres. The ball passed through the man's hat, inflicting a slight wound in the head. Acres fled to town and the negroes pursued, shooting

A REGULAR BATTLE. In front of Sloss & Co.'s store a pitched bat-tle took place, in which over one hundred shots were fired. The whites had armed themselves, and the negroes had been rein-forced to one hundred.

At first the whites gave way and fied to the stores and houses, but finally they repulsed the negroes and drove them away. Several of the leaders of the negroes fied to the woods, and the whites pursued.

THREATS OF LYNCHING. Two of them-Mack Prater and Jim McRae were captured, and will probably be shot or lynched tonight.

As soon as the sheriff was advised of the trouble he sent out a force of twenty-five deputies, but at 4 o'clock they had not suc-ceeded in quieting the disturbance. Deputy Sheriff Lockhart, who is in charge of the officers, made a speech to the whites, calling on them to disperse and assist in maintaining order, but they refused, and more trouble is expected. The whites threaten to lynch the two negro prisoners.

Complaints That the Enumerators Have Not Done Their Work Well.

Done Their Work Well.

Washington, June 16.—Since the announcement that the enumeration of the inhabitants of the city had closed, a number of complaints have been made by those who insisted that they have not been counted. Inquiries from a number of people by a Post reporter would seem to indicate that the census had not been accurately and completely taken. In the editorial and composing rooms of the paper there were a number of persons omitted by the enumerators. Numerous complaints have also been received by the local supervisor of census from persons who complain that the enumerators failed to get their names.

Chicago Complains About the Enumers Chicago Complains About the Enumeration, CHICAGO, June 16.—The Daily News this morning prints a number of complaints indicating that the federal census, which was practically completed last night, is decidedly faulty so far as Chicago is concerned. The gist of statements given is that, whether from lack of time, incompetence or negligence, a great number of families have been left unvisited, and that the omissions are possibly of such a wholesale character as to make the the enumeration a little better than a farce.

The Covington Commencement.

The Covington Commencement.

Covington, Ga., June 16.—[Special.]—The commencement exercises of the Girls' High school, of this place, began yesterday with a sermen from Rev. W. H. LaPrade, pastor of the Methodist church at this place. His text was Ecciesiastes 12th chaper, and part of 1st verse—"Remember now thy creator in the days of thy youth." The sermon was addressed specially to the children of the public schools, and was in all respects eminently appropriate to the occasion, and the preacher's message and exhortation were delivered in such language as enabled even the youngest of his hearers to understand and appropriate them. The substance of the message and exhortation which he beautifully and forcibly elaborated, was this: That the children should remember their Creator because He created them; because He created them for a high and noble purpose; because He had created them under wise and salutary laws for right living and great usefulness, and that they should reuember Him to love and obey Him.

WHAT THE WIRES ARE DOING. Three Serious Accidents from Electricity in Augusta.

Augusta, Ga., June 16.—[Special.]—The new electric railroad company has done a lot of hasty and temporary work in order to be ready to carry some of the encampment crowds, but their hasty enterprise is costing them some accidents, more or less serious. Saturday a low wire yanked a negro train hand off the top of a freight car where their line crosses the Georgia railroad at Garnett street, breaking his arm; and today two more accidents are recorded. Charles Andrews, an employe of the telephone exchange, was at work on May avenue, running a line to put in a telephone at the encampment. He was up on a pole fixing the encampment. He was up on a pole fixing his wire when suddenly he received a shock which threw him from the pole, twenty-two feet to the ground. His hand was badly burned by the wire and his spine was painfully injured by the fall. It is said the accident was enough by crossing the telephone. ruly injured by the lant. It is said the accident was caused by crossing the telephone line by the new electric car line wire. This afternoon the electric railroad company's wire crossed the fire alarm wire and burned out five alarm stations, worth $125 each. The company is working day and night to get their line fully equipped.

READY TO CELEBRATE.

The Proposed Jubilee at Culloden Will Appreciated.

MACON, Ga., June 16.-[Special.]-Macon ites have read with interest in THE CONSTITU-TION that there will be an inter-city celebration at Culloden, on the opening of the Atlanta and Florida road. They think it is to be great day in the history of both Macon and Atlanta, and they are ready to celebrate it as such.

In conversation with several prominent citizens on the subject today they favored it warmly, and think a large number can be induced to go over without trouble.

They think the Fourth of July would be the proper time, as a grand barbecue is to be given on that day, and several prominent Georgians are to make addresses. It is probable that a train load of leading ss men can be carried over.

If The Constitution can secure an excursion from Atlanta, Macon people can be depended on to meet them there. THE FACTS DEVELOPED

Money. GRIFFIN, Ga., June 16 .- [Special.]-An attempt at rape was reported to the police last night. A thorough search was made for the party charged with the crime, but he could not be found. This morning, however, the young man was apprehended and lodged in jail.

The "facts," as narrated by the girl's father, W. D. Donalson, are that young Fred Parker escorted his daughter to church last night, and while they were on their return home Parker while they were on their return home Parker assaulted her. Fearing vengeance, Donalson said, Parker left his daughter at the well, and that when she came in the house her clothes were nearly torn off her. This was proven to be false, as Donalson's wife said Parker came to the house and assisted the girl in the house. At this syncion, heren to coint to. came to the house and assisted the girl in the house. At this, suspicion began to point to a vile conspiracy on the part of Donalson, and investigation proved the suspicion true, to some extent at least, as Donalson proposed to dismiss the case if Parker would pay the cost and furnish money enough to get himself and family back to North Carolina. This was done, and Parker was liberated. Young Parker has always borne a good character, and those who knew him were as stout in protesting his innocence before his liberation, as they are now confident it was a conspiracy to extort hush money from Parker.

ATHENS, Ga., June 16.—[Special.]—A large audience perfectly enchained by the eloquence of a silvery tongue and the logic of a wise

That was what greeted the eye at the uni versity chapel this morning as Hon. R. W. Patterson, of Macon, delivered, in glowing language, the oration before the literary societies of the University of Georgia.

He is an orator of recognized ability among Georgians, and his effort today but adds another wreath to his already unfading laurels. He came as the invited orator of the Demosthenian society, and upheld the full glory of that grand old society, which has contributed so much to the state. He was greeted with a burst of applause, and from the very start held their undivided attention.

He opened his speech with a pleasant reference to his connection and severance with the university. His opening thoughts were expressed as follows:

The wizard of the north describes in Ivanhoe tournament which summoned to the lists the best and bravest of England's chivalry. Full many a knight was there who had made of fame itself the herald to procliam his victories to Christendom, and many a high device that day glistened on many a stainless shield. At length there approached the lists one, whose polished armor bore no device save a young oak torn up by its roots, and to the heralds, who would announce his name, the Disinherited was the only title that he gave. Since the time when our great republic lay, like an infant, on America's migthy breast; since the time when Georgia, like a maiden, blushed beneath the starry robe of statehood which she donned, this university has afforded the intellectual lists where youthful squires have won their spurs, and the most famous squires have won their spurs, and the most and of a nation's orators have not disdained to add to their renown. Many a lance has here been broken by those haughty templars whom the degrees of this university have ennobled, and many a historic de-vice has glittered on the crest of those whose intellectual victories a nation cherished as its

Yet on this historic spot, and in this haughty presence, he, whom your courtesy has bidden speak to you, young gentlemen, today is entitled to wear no loftier device than that of a tree upfiteen years, at the bidding of this university, have been a stranger in these walls. Today, at her invitation, I return here, where once I dreamed those lofty dreams which only come by the resistless royality of youth, and where I writhed beneath that disappointment which seems so crushing when the heart is young. Thus resummoned to her halls, after a lapse of years, I can afford to forget all that crisis in my boyhood, save that it brought an indulgent father closer to my side. Disdain me not, if I can scarcely, even now, recall unswerving confidence in an erring son without tribute of a tear, but though those tears should fall, many as drops within the sea, each diamond thus dug from that deep mine, the heart, I would my father, fashioned into a diadem for thee. come by the resistless royality of youth, and where I writhed beneath that he would not be apt to give any more trouble. He paid a magnificent tribute he would not be apt to give any more trouble. He paid a magnificent tribute to the work of the lamented Henry W. Grady, and urged that the southern young man take up his work where he left, and, under the approving eye of God, carry it to completion. He closed his speech with a description of Mount Washington during a thunder storm—how the rolling clouds were around them, and the lightning flashed, yet on the summit the sinking sun cast a halo of glory on all around.

THE SLAVERY OF EMANCIPATION. Mr. Patterson then announced his theme to be "The Slavery of Emancipation." He proceeded to show how, by the emancipation of the slaves, the white people of the south have. since 1865, been in a condition of political slavery. He spoke most forcibly and elo-quently on the manner in which the present school system of Georgia is run and denounced school system of Georgia is run and denounced the practice of taking the white man's taxes to educate the negro man's child. He showed, by statistics, how the negro children were being educated with twice the rapidity of the whites. He won repeated applause for his eloquent language in showing how today the little children of white farmers are daily toiling that the negro children may be educated. He advanced, as the solution of the negro over the gradual distribution of the negro over the entire country, and placing him in a position where he would not be apt to give any more trouble.

glory on all around.

glory on all around.

And as standing on that sunlit summit I contemplated the perils of our upward progress and the manner of our marvelous ascension, I seemed to see as a panorama before me the most the manner of our marvelous ascension, I seemed to see as a panorama before me the most eventfulepoch in my country's history. The thunders of conquering war have rolled around the south, the lightnings of reconstruction blasted the institutions of a century, and the sombre cloud of race amalgamation wrapped the fair features of our sunny land in the darkness of the very shadow of death, but the patriotism of our people has been as unyielding as that iron railway which scaled the mountain's face, and their patient, persistent energy has been as resistless as the throbing of that ascending engine. Softly, far below us sound the faint echoes of retiring war. Beneath us now the lightning aims those lurid bolts, forged in the fires of sectional hate, and though the race cloud still hovers around, though darkness still dothcompass us about, not far above us we can descry the summit which we are approaching—a summit quiet in the grandeur of an accomplished redemption, and radiant in the smile of an approving God.

As he took his seat the audience broke into prolonged applause, which only died away into the strains of Dixie, which came from the band. It was pronounced by all to be as masterful an effort that has ever been delivered from the university stage. It will be published in pamphlet form by the Demosthenian society.

They drew up a memorial, setting forth the causes why they should not be abolished, and today the trustees relieved their fears by the following report:

the trustees relieved their fears by the following report:
Without expressing an opinion upon the claim of the memorialists of so many and so great benefits to students holding membership in the fraternities, the committee expresses gratification that the paper submitted contains a clear and unequivocal recognition of the subserviency of the laws of private rules and regulations of these fraternities to the laws of the university. This, their distinct avowal, coupled with a piedge to adhere to it in future, is expressed in the following language: "Just as the college fraternity is the offspring of the college, so we realize that the laws of the former must be subservient to the latter, and that whenever the two conflict, the former must yield. This is the position held now, and ever heretofore, by all the fraternities at the university, and we pledge curselves to adhere to it in the future."

We also note with pleasure the high estimate

versity, and we pledge ourselves to adhere to it in the future."

We also note with pleasure the high estimate placed upon the literary societies of the university by memorialists. The advantage to be derived from attendance upon the meetings of these societies and participation in the debates seem to be properly appreciated, and in our opinion cannot be too highly esteemed, and having entire confidence in the honor of the young gentlemen composing the eight fraternities, and in view of the fact that the serious disturbances arising out of the reprehensible conduct of some of the members of the fraternities during the present term were settled fraternities during the present term were settled by the chancellor and faculty in a manner satis-factory to them, and relying upon the recognition of the supremacy of the law of the university, and the pledge given in connection therewith, the board does not deem it necessary at this time to take action looking to the abolition of the frater-nities.

The sophomore declamation took place this afternoon. The speeches were excellent and merited full applause, which was fully given. The gate city was well represented by Messrs. E. R. Black and J. F. Lewis. Below is a list of speakers:

R. E. Black, Atlanta—The South in the Union—Hill.
J. C. Blosingame, Zebulon—Irish Aliens— E. R. Hodgeson, Jr., Athens-Mississipp Contested Election-Prentiss.

W, T. Kelly, Monticello-The New South-Grady. W. F. Lewis, Atlanta—The Stars and Stripes W. G. Park, LaGrange-The Conquest of

W. G. Park, LaGrange—The Conquest of America—Chatham.
S. H. Sibley, Union Point—Peace With Bonaparte—Fox.
J. E. Whelchel, Gainesville—Massachusetts and South Carolina—Webster.
The alumni meeting will be held in the chapel tomorrow morning. As there is no alumni orator present, the exercises of the day have been turned over to the Alumni association, which will arrange for a number of short speeches upon the outlook now for the university, and the division of ways and means for her success. It will be a meeting of unbounded entbusiasm and interest. It is highly probably that the excellent scheme of Judge Howard Van Epps will held its reunion tomorrow night. It promises to be of unusual interest.

COWETA'S KIND WORDS FOR HON. JAMES B. HUNNICUTT AS A

SUCCESSFUL FARMER

Who is Recommended as the Successor of Colonel Henderson-All Classes of Citizens Represented in the Meeting:

NEWNAN, Ga., June 16.—[Special.]—A democratic mass-meeting was called this afternoon to give proper endorsement to the candidacy of Hon. James B. Hunnicutt for the office of commissioner of agriculture. It was unanimous and enthusiastic. Rev. W. F. S. Powell, a prominent allianceman of the county, acted as chairman, and there were representative farmers in the meeting from six or seven districts of the county. The following preamble and resolutions were read and adopted by a rising vote, which was unanimous:

Whereas, Rotation in office is one of the time-

Whereas, Rotation in office is one of the time-honored customs of the democratic party, and Whereas, The present incumbrent of this office of commissioner of agriculture has occupled that position continuously for eleven years, and Whereas, We believe that the welfare and ad-vancement of the agricultural interests of the state will be greatly enhanced by a progressive, capable and enterprising administration of the

THE TENTH DISTRICT.

The Congressional Nominating Convention to Meet in Augusta. Augusta, Ga., June 16 .- [Special.]-The first official step in the congressional race in the tenth district was taken today, when Chairman Joseph B. Cumming, of the demo-cratic executive committee for this district, issued his call for a meeting of the committee in Augusta July 2. The meeting is to determine the time and place of holding a convention to nominate a democratic candidate

The committee is composed as follows: Chairman, Hon. Joseph B. Cumming, of Richmond, and G. H. Harrell, of Jefferson; T. H. Remsen, of Lincoln; Randolph Ridgely, of Burke; J. W. Flanders, of Johnson; W. R. Longue, Sr., of Glascock; James Whitehead, of Warren W. L. Benton, of Columbia; Macon Warthen, of Washington; Thomas E. Watson. of McDuffle, and John T. POLITICS IN PIKE.

The Candidates for the Legislature Blossom

The Candidates for the Legislature Blossoming Out.

CULLODEN, Ga., June 16.—[Special.]—
County politics are exceedingly quiet. It is universally conceded that T. B. Cabaniss will be our senator, and R. L. Berner one of our representatives. The second man has not yet become prominent, but the ardor of at least one-half dozen to do something great and good for the people will wax warmer and warmer as the day for holding our primary draws near, which has not yet been set, but will be in the lear future.

which has not yet been set, but will be in the ear future.

The only genuine political excitement that has been manifest was the announcement of Colonel Thomas Hardeman's candidacy for governor, in Saturday's Constitution.

Polling the People. Roswell, Ga., June 16.—[Special.]—Your correspondent traveled the road from this place to Orange in Cherokee county. After he crossed the Cobb county line he asked every voter he met through Milton county and the south side of Cherokee county, whom they were in favor of for congress from the ninth district, with the following result: J. R. Brown 25, Pickett 10, Winn 3, Tate 2, unexpressed 20. This includes farmers, blacksmiths and merchants.

Machen, Ga., June 16.—[Special.]—The county alliance met on Saturday and concluded to support Colonel E.B. Smith for senator from this district, and James Henderson for the house. These men will in all probability be nominated. Hardeman has a large number of friends in Legacy by Northern 1988. large number of friends in Jasper, but Northen will pull through.

A Three-Cornered Political Fight.

GRIFFIN, Ga., June 16.—[Special.]—It has developed today that we will have a three-concered fight for representative. Hon. John H. Mitchell has been placed before the people by his friends. Mr. B. N. Miller is also a candidate. Colonel F. D. Dismuke has been bow-ing around for some days and when asked. ing around for some days, and when asked this afternoon if he, too, was in the race, said: "They say so, and I guess I am."

Carrent States. States of the States of Constitution: Messrs. Woolley in which he seeks to deny having told me that Commissioner Henderson required him to pay back $125 of his salary, after it was lacreased by Henderson from $1,250 to $1,550 per lacreased by Henderson from $1,50 to $1,550 per lacreased by Henderson from of mutual friends that he did give Henderson $125, but it was a voluntary act—that Henderson did not require it of him. On the second Saturday in May I was in Kingston, and met Dr. Jones, and he there made the same statement to me, saying that Woolley was in town; and that if Woolley made this confession to me I was not to mention it again. To this proposition I replied that if I was called upon I would be compelled to state the facts, otherwise it would place me in a position I would not allow myself to be placed in. After some time he (Jones) prevailed upon me to go on the back side of the depot platform from where we were then talking. When we got around there we found Mark Hardin, A. F. Woolley and R. H. Dodd. I met Woolley pleasantly. We engaged for a few minutes in general conversation. Hardin seemed very nervous—complained of being sick, and walked up and down the platform during this conversation. Very soon Hardin and Dodd started off, and Jones, Woolley and myself following them—Jones being a few steps in advance of Woolley and myself. Woolley faced me and said, "I suppose you and Dr. Jones have had a conversation, "or made some remark of that kind, and then said, "Of course I cannot deny having told you, but I had to get out of it some way." I cannot say, nor have I ever said, that Dr. Jones heard this. Yet it was in his presence. Dodd and Hardin had turned the corner of the depot, and were so far in advance that they could not have heard what was said. I do not now say, nor have I ever said, that the inspectors of fertilizers were required by Henderson to refund to, him one hundred and twenty-five dollars of their sal riss for campaign purposes, or that they were expected by Henderson woluntarily to do so. I do now say, and have heretofore said, that A. F. Woolley told me that Henderson did require them to do so. I know nothing of it of my own personal knowledge. Woolley made this statement to me the first time in the presence of Mrs. Lyon and the balance of my lamily at my house, as before stated. I

MR. BLACKBURN'S WRITE-UP.

What is Said About it by the People of Ope lika.

OPELIKA, Ala., June 16 .- [Special.]-The excellent write-up given Opelika in yesterday's Constitution by Mr. B. M. Blackburn was one of the chief topics of conversation here yesterday. Everybody was singing high the praise of The Constitution. It is the best paper in the south; a hustler from the word go; the most enterprising journal I ever saw. These are a few of the many exclamations heard. Truly, THE CONSTITUTION is on top in Ope lika this morning. One gentleman remarked that at one time he felt like cursing The Con-STITUTION, and the next instant he wanted to fold it in his arms in a loving embrace. She is the greatest southern paper today on the globe, is the way he ended his remarks. The writeup has given general satisfaction to everyone and it is calculated to make The ConstituTION many new friends in Opelika and East Alabama. At the request of Superintendent Theorems of the Opelika Iron and East Alabama. At the request of Superintendent Thompson, of the Opelika Iron works, we make the correction in Mr. Blackburn's report. In writing up the iron works Mr. Blackburn said:

* * The officers—J. B. Bennett, president; G. N. Hudmon, secretary and treasurer, and W. P. Thompson, superintendent—are among the most experienced and conservative business men of the city.

This is a mistake. Mr. G. W. Hudmon is not an officer, being a stockholder only, and Mr. W. P. Thompson is not in any way connected with the iron works, he being in a different business altogether. It should have read: The officers—J. B. Bennett, secretary and treasurer, and T. W. Thompson, superintendent.

Another Case for Clemency. Another Case for Clemency.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 16.—[Special.]—
Very probably the governor will be petitioned to commune the sentence of W. Whitefield Murrell, the young white murderer of Edgefield, who escaped from jail after being sentenced to death, and was recaptured. The supreme court has just sustained the verdict of the lower court, and Murrell will be resentenced to death next month. He was recommended to mercy, which has heretofore been considered as a command to the governor to commute, but the case is such a peculiar one commute, but the case is such a peculiar one that it is doubtful whether the governor will observe the obligation. Murrell is not a badlooking youth, eighteen years old. If he is hung, it will be the first white legal hanging which the county of Edgeneld has ever had.

which the county of Edgeneld has ever had.

In Prison for Life.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 16.—[Special.]—Governor Fowle today commuted to life imprisonment, at hard labor in the penitentiary, Jordan Pritchett, colored, who was under sentence to be hanged at Oxford for murder committed in Granville county. Great pressure was brought to bear by hundreds of people in that county to secure this commutation. There was very grave doubt as to Pritchett being the man who fired the fatal shot, and for this reason the sentence was modified, to the special satisfaction of the public.

The Republicans in Conference. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 16.—[Special.]—
The republican executive committee of the state met here this afternoon, to fill the vacancies in the state ticket caused by two of the candidates nominated being ineligible on account of not having been in the state long enough. The session of the committee today, and together was given by the continuous work and and tonight was given up to routine work, and the candidates will not be selected until to-morrow. There is a full attendance of the committee, and the sessions have been harmo-

Brunswick Will Be There.

Brunswick, Ga., June 16.—[Special.]—Brunswick's delegation to the formal opening of the Alabama Midland railroad will leave on a special train tomorrow night, and consists of the mayor and council, and committee from the board of trade. The Alabama Press associa-tion passed through Brunswick returning from Florida tonight, at 11 o'clock, en route to Sa-vannah, where it will be entertained tomorrow.

Dr. Lindsay Declines. MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 16.—Rev. Dr. John S. Lindsay, of St. Paal's church, Boston, Mass., who was recently elected assistant bishop of Alabama by the diocesan council of the Protestant Episcopal church, has written the committee on notification declining the honor.

IN SOLID STREAKS

THE HAIL POURED DOWN OVER BALDWIN COUNTY.

A Dairy Farm Visited By a Destructive Cyclone—The Rain Assumes the Charac-ter of a Waterspout.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., June 16 .- [Special.]-A small cyclone swooped down on Wagoner's dairy farm, two miles below the city, this morning, and played havoc with out-h fences, wagons, etc. His barn and stables were demolished, fences and trees were blown down, and the floor of his dwelling was blown up in many parts of the house. THE SIZE OF THE HAIL.

The hail is said to have come down in solid streaks, while the rain was almost a waterspout. The wind was not felt in the city, and there are no storm reports except from Wagoner's place. The rain in the city was very heavy and the streets were flooded with water. There was much thunder and lightning, accompanying the rain, and electric light poles were splintered in several places, while the carbons were burned out in a large number of lights over the city.

THE STORM WAS LOCAL. As the storm was local in its nature, there is not much fears of damage to crops, which are fine in this county.

UNLIKE TEA & COFFEE--GOOD FOR THE NERVES.

The claims of cocoa as a useful article of diet are steadily winning recognition. Unlike tea and coffee, it is not only a stimulant but a nourisher; and if has the great advantage of leaving no narcotic effects. Hence it is adapted to general use. The strong may take it with pleasure, and the weak with impunity.

VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA

"BEST & GOES FARTHEST."

23 VAN HOUTEN'S COCOA ("once tried, always used") leaves no injurious effects on the nervous system. THE DAILY CONSTITUTION, INCLUDING THE SUNDAY EDITION, Will be delivered to any address in the city TWENTY CENTS PER WEEK.

THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION $2 A YE/.R. SENT TO ANY ADDRESS.

ATLANTA, GA., JUNE 17, 1890.

An Excellent Management.

General Manager Gabbett deserves much credit for his excellent management of the Central railroad, and the improvements that have been made on the Atlanta end of the line will especially commend his administration to the people of this city.

The new Atlanta and Hapeville schedule is a splendid arrangement, and too much praise can not be given the Central for the perfect manner in which it has completed the details for this train. It will operate on practically an hour schedule and will prove a good investment to the road, while it will have a wonderful effect along the section through which it runs. Hapeville is brought closer to Atlanta than West End, and can be much more easily reached than many portions of Atlanta.

The Central's "hour schedule" will work wonders.

Superintendent Starr was in the city yesterday to see how it started, and is more than satisfied at the first day's work. He has given his close attention to the preliminary arrangements for the train, and the creditable showing made speaks well for his efficiency as a railroadman.

No Censor Need Apply.

President McCall exploded a bombshell among the Alabama editors when he sug gested in the reading of his annual address, that a board, with the powers of a railroad commission, should be created by legislation to consider matters which might be beyond what a newspaper ought to say! In other words, the president of the Editors' and Publishers' association, of Alabama, was in favor of a state press censorship, which would have the power to limit the press in the free expression of its opinions.

His suggestion created, as well it might, a storm of protest from the assembled editors. The proposition was startling and unheard of in the journalistic annals of Alabama, and it was promptly condemned and unanimously voted down.

Mr. McCall is doubtless sorry now that he made the suggestion; it amounted to an insult to the press of Alabama, no matter how it was meant. It was a blow, not only at the liberty of the press, but American liberty itself. The American editors have no desire to imitate Russian methods and customs, at least, in this matter of a press censorship, and the freest press in the world will be quick to resent any infringement of its liberty, in whatever guise it presents

This unheard-of suggestion was the only discordant note which marred the harmony of the meeting of Alabama's editors. It is not likely to trouble them again.

The Health Outlook.

Our telegrams report two cases of yellow fever on a vessel detained at the Chandeleur quarantine station. The disease is also said to be assuming epidemic proportions in Yucatan.

From Spain our advices are still more threatening. The genuine Asiatic cholera has broken out in that country, and is spreading. In view of this intelligence it is hardly necessary to urge upon our sanitary author ities everywhere the importance of getting our ports in order. It will be necessary too, to clean up the interior towns. If we invite a plague during the heated term it will be almost certain to come. Past experience, however, shows that we can bar it out. In such cases precaution is better than cure.

Eager for the Fray.

The session of the National Temperance congress in New York last week brought out some remarkable ideas, and some still more remarkable eloquence.

Mr. Henry Clay Bascom was one of the leading speakers. Among other things he said that if the federal constitution made it impossible for congress to pass a prohibitory liquor law, then it was time to get rid of the constitution, and he was ready to shoulder his musket for that purpose.

The Rev. Joseph Cook, of Boston, ably supplemented Brother Bascom. He expressed the opinion that the prohibitionists "may ultimately need the musket," and said, "we may have barricade riots yet."

According to an editorial in the World several other speakers were equally outspoken in threatening revolution and bloodshed in order to carry their point.

Such talk is well calculated to make conservative, old-fashioned people stare and gasp. The serious part of the business is the fact that Parson Cook, Bascom and some of the other extreme reformers are a power in their way. They have a large following, and there is no telling what effect their ut terances will have in the near future. It will surprise nobody after this to hear of prohibition riots and violent assaults upon the persons and property of saloonmen in certain localities. If these reformers are in earnest, let them go ahead, shoulder their muskets and get up their barricade riots. They will find that their appeal to a higher law than the constiwill not cause their fellow-citizens to submit to their crusade of violence. It is even possible that when the opportunity offers some of the riflemen who are forced to defend themselves and their property, will aim a couple of fancy shots at Parson Cook and Brother Bascom. To put out two such shining lights would, of course, be a calamity, but such things are to be expected when en take up arms against the constitution.

But they had some very hot weather in New York last week. No doubt Messrs.

Cook and Bascom stewed and sizzled until they were reckless and half delirious. This may account for their revolutionary talk. When the next cool wave comes along they will be as pleasant and as harmless as a couple of refrigerators. But they have already done enough mischief to make them heartfly ashamed.

Another "Characteristic Performance." THE CONSTITUTION would not for the world, intentionally, do injustice to any one, and it never hesitates to put itself straight when it believes that it has done so.

The Macon Telegraph, of Sunday, complains about the following paragraph, appearing in THE CONSTITUTION the day be-Lieutenant-Colonel J. H. Estill, the Savannah proprietor of the Macon Telegraph, will kindly notice the fact that the letter of Colonel Thomas Hardeman will be read in The Constitution of his morning by the people of Macon, who must

The Telegraph states that it supplied our correspondent with advance proof-slips of Colonel Hardeman's letter as soon as they could be printed, and says that the return it gets is an insolent sneer, all of which, it announces, is a "characteristic performance."

We hasten to say to our contemporary that we have done it an injustice, and to express our regret, at the same time explaining the

On Friday our Macon correspondent bulletined us that Colonel Hardeman had written his announcement letter. He was instructed to get it, and replied that Colonel Hardeman was out of the city and the Telegraph had the letter. Knowing that it was Colonel Hardeman's desire that the letter should receive as large a circulation as possible, we then wired our correspondent to ask the Telegraph for a copy of the letter, and if refused, to reach Colonel Hardeman, at any cost, and get it. All this was done before dark, and at half-past two next morning we had not received a word.

When the letter came, without any explanation, and so late, we presumed of course that our correspondent had been delayed in getting it from its author,

Finding such not to be the case, we take pleasure in making the above statement, and in saving further that no paper in the state will more promptly respond to any call of its contemporaries than THE CONSTITUTION.

In conclusion, let us remark that had THE CONSTITUTION intentionally done the Telegraph this injustice, it would have done no more than we were done by Colonel Estill's other paper, the Savannah News, a few weeks ago. When THE CONSTITUTION, through its correspondents, polled the state to ascertain its gubernatorial preference, the correspondent of the News was given the result, which he wired to his papers.

The News promptly took advantage of our information, crediting it to "an Atlanta paper."

But it is a characteristic of THE CONSTI TUTION to hew to the line of honesty and fair dealing—and so

We beg your pardon, Colonel Estill.

Senator Evarts Takes a Stand.

A Boston newspaper prints an editorial under the heading, "Mr. Evarts out for Sil-This heading is in the nature of inver." formation, and it will be of exceptional interest to those who have endeavored to read Mr. Evarts' remarks on the silver question It is to be gathered from what he says that he is in favor of the unlimited coinage of silver, provided gold continues to be the unit of value, with the white metal as a subsidiary attachment, contingent in the product of the California mines, and so forth and so on, to an extraordinary extent.

The probability is that Mr. Evarts doesn' know whether silver ought to be remonetized or not, and he certainly doesn't care. But the opportunity offered for one of his paralyzing speeches, and he poured it forth on the senate, each sentence filling a page of the Congressional Record. At a certain point in his remarks, gold seemed to be the only necessary metal. Then silver loomed up in the dim distance and overshadowed

Mr. Evarts sets a great example to ou statesmen. They cannot all have the gift of gab, nor can they master the art of talk ing all day without saying anything, but they can certainly learn how to wrap a crazy quilt of words around their small ideas. Meanwhile, those who desire to know how Mr. Evarts stands on the silver question should send a postal card to the editor of the Congressional Record.

Silver Money.

Senator Jones, of Nevada, in his speech favoring the remonetization of silver covers the question elaborately. Some of his citations of the practical effects upon the debtor classes are startling.

The legislation had in 1873 by the republican majority in congress in favor of the "gold-bugs," or creditor classes, is now shown by this republican senator to be nothing short of legalizing wholesale robbery. Senator Jones says:

If a cotton planter in 1873 owed $10,000 he could then have paid it with 60,975 pounds of cotton. Today, by reason of the increased command which gold has over-commodities, it would take 101,010 pounds of cotton to pay that $10,000; notwith-standing that the money in which the debtor has paid the interest has each year become more valuble than it was at the time he contracted to pay it

The property of the country is fast passing into the hands of the creditors, and if the iniquitous system is not reversed the condition of our Amer-ican farmers will be that of the farmers of gold-standard countries. Instead of owning their farms they will be tenants and rent-pay but little in advance of that which pre

It is not unlikely that the question of rescuing the country from the disastrous republican legislation of 1873 may become the allabsorbing one, and that the farmers' demand for relief will compel a hearing from ears that are now deaf to their suffering call.

Clinging to a Reed.

The republicans are disposed to regard Speaker Reed in the light of a man of destiny. They are not overgiven to heroworship, but they have made a hero of their man Reed, and they think they see in him a leader who will guarantee success to the party in the next national campaign, and to this end they are booming him for the presidency, and have predicted that he will force his way to the white house by the same stubborn, indomitable will with which he

In a word, Reed will be the republican candidate for president in 1892, if the boom which they have started for him in this direction should gather strength as it goes. But the democratic party will have nothing to fear from his candidacy. The record he will have left behind him will not help his cause; his high-handed methods in congress will be remembered, and the partisan legislation to which the country has been forced to submit will rise up in black record against him and call forth an indignant protest from the people at the polls.

It was with a view of increasing the republican power in the next national election that the federal election law infamy was designed, and on the passage of that bill the republicans base their hopes of future success: but against this and all other measures of force the people have protested, and will protest, and if allowed a vote at all, their protest will assume a form not favorable to republican success.

Speaker Reed may be a man of destiny, but in view of the record he is making for himself in congress, we are persuaded that his destiny is a dark one, and the tide on which he is now floating will not lead him on to fortune. He is undoubtedly a presidential possibility—he will be a candidate—but only a candidate. He will never force his way into the presidential chair-the country neither could nor would stand it,

Stand by the Law. Judge Ernest L. Kontz has not been on the recorder's bench long, but he has already shown that he is the right man in the right

His action in sending two violators of ou license laws to the chain-gang will be upheld by every good citizen. ports of British investments in this country have been greatly exaggerated. Still, it must be admitted that English capitalists are investing in first-class American enterprises, and they are on the lookout for more. Since last fall they have bought the stock of the Hammond Dressed Beef company; the Springfield, Ohio, breweries; the San Francisco breweries, the New England breweries, the St. Louis breweries, the opment company, the Warner Kidney Cure, and a few other enterprises. Several firms in New York represent English syndicates and are ready to buy paying manufacturing establishments. Mines are in disfavor just at present, and ordinary land is not in demand. Americans who think that it is an easy matter to sell property at a high price to Englishmen will find themselves badly mistaken. Our cousins over the water ar shrewd business men. They want only firstclass investments, such investments as the present owners do not care about disposing of.

British capital is here, and more will come. It is destined to be an important factor in manufacturing, in railways and in the development of the most promising regions of the south. But it is not going to come in the shape of a tidal wave. It will not be recklessly wasted. Every dollar of it that is left here will get a dollar's worth in return. This is the view of an expert who has recently looked into the matter, and it is a very reasonable view.

Foraker and the Forgery.

The whitewash that Foraker, of Ohio, is clamoring for doesn't seem to be forthcoming. The trouble with Foraker is that his ambition to be president, or even something bigger, took such firm hold on his small mind that he had no hesitation in making an effort to destroy such republicans as might be supposed to stand in his way.

It will be remembered that the house representatives several months ago appointed a committee to investigate the forgery that bore so prominent a part in the campaign in Ohio in which Foraker was defeated. This committee has been trying to postpone the inevitable for some time, but it is at last about ready to report. Foraker has addressed to the committee an argument in his own defense, and General Grosvenor, who has been conducting the prosecution of the conspirators in behalf of Sen ator Sherman, Governor Campbell, and the other gentlemen whose reputation was attacked by the forgery, has replied in a speech which is exceedingly interesting when it is considered that General Grosvenor is a republican in good standing.

The general doesn't mince matters in the least. He practically accuses Foraker of a guilty knowledge of Wood's crime. "The best skill of the committee," General Grosvenor says, "aided by many of the best men of the country, has been put upon the track of the men who did inspire and organize the crime, and they have run it down simply to the fact that it was made for the benefit of one man, and there we have it."

This means Foraker, and he stands forth disgraced. There is no whitewash here.

Beyond the Sculptor's Art. Shall the people of the south raise a month ment to the women of the confederacy?

This question, first asked at the Lee statue celebration in Richmond, and now repeated through the columns of the press, will thrill every southern heart.

For unselfish devotion and heroism, the women of the confederacy will stand side by side with the most famous heroines of history. They gave husbands, sons and lovers to the cause nearest their hearts, and accepted without a murmur poverty and suf-fering for the remainder of their lives. They gave all they had for their country, and regretted that they had not more to give. They faced the terrors of the battle-field, and wore their lives out watching in the ho pitals. But the sculptor's art will fail him when he tries to body forth the confederate woman in marble or bronze. How shall she be represented-weeping over her dead-arming her lover for battle, or as one resigned to he fate? Or shall it be the fair South, recrowned, and rising to bless her children? And why not present her to the world as Peace?

It is easy to talk about such a monumen but what shall it be?

Left to themselves, the confederate women would desire no other monuments than their children, whose marvelous work of progress has commanded the world's admiration it may be that there is more wisdom in their loving devotion than there is in the suggestion made by those who desire to honor

One thing is certain—the women of the confederacy will live in song and story, and in the sturdy generations whose heads and hearts and hands will, in the coming years, make the new south worthy of the old. Surely, there is glory enough in this?

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A THREE-COLUMN article in the Chicago Herald pictures Explorer Stanley as a newspaper reporter in Omaha in 1867. At that time Stanley was a regular Bohemian. He was erratic. He drank, and gambled, and made love to actresses. He made enemies as well as friends, and after a fight with another reporter he was arrested, and found it convenient to leave town. The people who knew the young man in those days never dreamed that he would develop into a great leader. Now they are dragging up his old follies to show how very human he was in his young days.

SAYS THE Seattle Post-Intelligencer: "The residence which William Waldorf Astor is about to erect on his estate near Abbeville, N. C., is to ost $6,000,000, and a branch railroad has been built for the purpose of transporting material to the ground. Commenting on this, the Pioneer-Press says: 'Six million dollars would fill many millions of hungry mouths in this world, and the mouths need filling agreat deal worse than does Mr. Astor need askr-million temporary residence. This is very cheap balderdash, and the Pioneer-Press is generally above giving circulation to the like. The six millions spent in building that palace will not divert any food from hungry mouths. On the contrary, it will feed them. And better still, the contrary, it will feed them. And better still, they will have earned it, which is far more to their advantage than if it had been received as charity.

And distributed in this way, the six millions not only helps those who need it, but also leaves a ent to their toil and an ornament to the ountry in which it is located to say nothing of the pirit of independence which it has fostered, all or which would have been lacking had it been dis tributed as a gratuity. No harm will come to the country or the people if rich men put their sur-plus funds to no worse use than in the building of tine houses in this country."

Recently he saw at a London theater a scrofulous red woman, clad in a fiery red gown, the corsage of which was literally covered with diamonds. THE CINCINNATI COMMERCIAL GAZETTE SAYS that northwestern farmers should heed the doctrine of diversity of crops which has been preached to the southern farmers for so many years. The farmers of the northwest have devoted too much labor to raising live stock and grain. They should now way more attention to the local demand for hutter. pay more attention to the local demand for butter, eggs, vegetables and fruits. The beauty of this advice is that it still applies to southern farmers, and they will lose nothing by heeding it.

He went to his office and wrote the following ad vertisement which appeared next morning in the Commercial: "Wanted, fifty cats, liberal price for the same. Apply to Rounsaville Brothers." Well, the picture that presented itself at Rounsaville's corner next morning beggars description. Boys of all ages and sizes, boys of all tints from the fairhaired youth to the sable Ethiopian, bare-foo boys and ragged boys, red-headed boys, freekled-faced boys, town boys and country boys, boys from walk, doorways and street with bags full of cats—cats of every description, name and order—house cats, yard cats, barn cats, church cats, fat cats, and lean cats, honest cats and thievish cats. THEY HOLD AN ENTHUSIASTIC AND INTERESTING MEETING.

The Important Matters Transacted-Long. street and Johnson Honored—The Davis Monument—Other Matters.

The regular monthly meeting of the Fulton County ex-Confederate Veterans' association was held last night.

President W. L. Calhoun was present, and when he called the association to order the hall was well filled with the men who were the gray and followed the stars and bars through nany a raging battle storm.

The first business taken up by the meeting was the consideration of a resolution providing for temporary aid to two afflicted ex-confederate soldiers, and a comfortable provision for their support was voted unanimously by the meeting.

The committee appointed at the last meeting to confer with the exposition directors about securing privileges on the exposition grounds reported no progress, but was instructed to meet the exposition again at their neeting next Friday night.

The committee appointed to confer with the organization of sons of ex-confederates, reported that they had been invited to meet in the hall two nights every week, and would be given all the privileges of the hall.

THE GENERAL COUNCIL

THE BODY MEETS IN REGULAR SES-

And After Adopting a Tax Ordinance for 1890, Discussed a Street Car Franchise.

The tax ordinance for 1890 and a Luckie street car live franchise consumed the time of the general council yesterday afternoon in reg-And a lively time it was.

The session began in peace and harmony, and ended in an unpleasant conversation between Hon. James G. Woodward, of the alde manic board, and Mr. Joel Hurt, president of the Atlanta and Edgewood street railway company.

The trouble grew out of the discussion of the award of the Luckie street franchise. It was quite warm and might have had a serious termination but for the interference of mutual friends.

After the adjournment Mr. Woodward and Mr. Hurt were coming down in the elecator. Both gentlemen were yet warm over this discussion.

A remark one made aroused the other, and as the elevator reached the lower floor they were quarreling.

Immediately after leaving the elevator the quarrel culminated in an attempt on the part of both gentlemen to reach each other, but they were prevented by friends.

The Work Begins.

When Mayor Pro Tem. Hutchison called the body to order a full representation was present.

The clerk presented a paper from the aldermanic board touching the ordinance giving new numbers to houses on the streets. The paper made no change in the ordinance except as to the price to be paid for the work.
"I would like to make a motion just here," said Mr. King. "The plan suggested does not wholly suit me, and I move that the papers be referred to a committee of five, two from the board of aldermen and three from the council."

"I am opposed to any reference here," said Mr. Hulsey. "We have given this matter here a careful study, and we have made out a report. If we put it in the hands of a committee again new complications will arise, new plans will be presented, and we will never get through with it."

never get through with it."

"The plan we have presented is not a good one," said Mr. King. "Take for instance Simpson street. It makes almost a circuit. Now how are we to divide it? Certainly we can't have four divisions of it." "That's easily settled," said Mr. Hendrix,
"The city is divided by the railroads and by Peachtree and Whitehall. That part of Simpson on one side of the railroad is son and the other is south Simpson." *

"I agree with Mr. King," said Mr. Howell. "I think that the papers should be recommitted to the committee, and that some better plan should be secured. There can be no hurt in a little delay."

"I think a committee of conference," said Mr. Haas, "might end this dispute between the board and council."

On Mr. King's motion to recommit the ayes and nayes were asked for. The call resulted for recommittal 9, against recommittal 7.

A Park Telephone. The board of police commissioners sent in a request for a telephone at Grant park at once.

The petition was granted, upon motion of Mr. Woodward. Woodward.

The Tax Ordinance for '90.

Mr. Middlebrooks, chairman of the tax committee, presented the tax ordinance of the city of Atlanta for the year 1890.

The ordinance was signed by the entire committee.

The ordinance for 1890 is the same as the or-

The ordinance for 1890 is the same as the ordinance for 1889, except the change in the year up to section 5. That section in the ordinance for 1889 treated of bank shares taxed at market value. This year it is made a part of section 4, wherein all stock, state, municipal and other corporations bonds are discussed,

The consolidation of these two sections moves every other section of the ordinance for 1890 one point higher up.

Then there are no more changes until section 12—13 it was in '89—is reached. That section treats of taxes on parties unenumerated, and to it was added the words, "unless otherwise provided in this ordinance."

The reading of the ordinance was quite menotonous until the clerk reached this section.

hen the fun began. The section assesses, among other things the license tax on circus and opera-houses.

I 1889 circuses were required to pay a license tax of $100 and a clerk's fee of $1.25 for each performance, and each side-show $15 for each day with the clerk's fee. In the same section all theaters, opera-houses or halls where theatrical, sleight of hand, legerdemain or minstrels perform, were charged $350 and clerk's fee a year in quarterly installments or $10 for each show.

In the new ordinance theaters were put down at $600.

"I am opposed to the down at $600.

"I am opposed to that section," said Mr. Hulsey. "I am more than willing to charge the circus even the $600, but the theaters are quite different. The circus comes and takes away the poor people's money, money that would buy a shoe for a foot. I'm in for keeping them out. The theater is different. It is patronized by those who are able to patronize it, and I don't see any reason why it should be changed."

changed."
"I don't know whether I understand the law," said Mr. McBride. "Does it apply to the show or to the opera-house."
"I am opposed to the increase," said Mr. Howell. "The theater is a source of pleasure and recreation and I think they should be encouraged. I am for the circus, teo."

and recreation and I think they should be encouraged. I am for the circus, too."

"Mr. Hulsey has some funny ideas," sa'd Mr. King. "He's for taxing the poor man's show but not the rich man's show. I am for taxing the luxury. If there is a luxury it's a chance to see Booth, Jefferson on Barrett and I'm willing to pay for it and I i think Mr. DeGive should be too. In my opinion $600 is not too much."

"I never knew the poor had such a champion as Mr. King," said Mr. Hulsey. "If he's right let's make an appropriation and let the children all go to the circus. Let's buy a circus. We are going to buy an elephant."

"I understand," said Mr. Woodward, "that the opera-house people have been taking out a license for three-quarters only. I think they should be required to take out a license for a full year."

"It hink," said Mr. Howell, "that we are doing well enough now and the only improvement I could suggest would be the collection of that other quarter."

of that other quarter."

"I'm 'opposed to any increase," said Mr.
Kontz; "already we get 1½ per cent on Mr.
DeGive's property."

Mr. Haas offered to amend the report by substituting $500 for the $600.

"I think," said Mr. Meador, "that $550 is enough. Then, too, Mr. DeGive is about ready to put up a new opera-house."

enough. Then, toe, Mr. DeGive is about ready to put up a new opera-house."

"Mr. DeGive was here last year," said Mr. Hirsch, "and explained fully the situation. He cannot pay more than $350."

Mr. Middlebrocks, chairman of the committee, agreed to withdraw $600 and to accept Mr. Haas's figures, $500.

Mr. Howell then asked to amend by substituting $400 for the $500.

On Mr. Haas's motion the ayes and nays were called, and resulted in 7 ayes and 10 hays.

Days.

Mr. Howell's amendment was then adopted.
In section 16, giving the mayor discretion to tax parties not enumerated, Mr. Hendrix

"I'm opposed to patent medicine vending. A man comes and dresses up in an Indian garb, sticks feathers all over him, and then goes on the streets and poisons our people. I hay let's strike that out."

"Oh, give 'em a chance," said Mr. Meador.
Mr. Middlebrooks was with Mr. Meador, and the section was not changed.
Section 20 caught Mr. Hirsch.
It requires that drummers selling goods to others than registered merchants shall take out a license for $300, and that no license shall lesse for less than one month.

"No license should issue for less than a year."
"I guess we'd better leave that alone," said
Mr. Hulsey. "We have all heard of the dog with a chunk of meat in his mouth jumping into the water to get another chunk from his reflection."

That dog and the chunk of meat settled it.

Then on to section 28 the sailing was smooth.

Under the schedule of licenses Mr. Howell sought to exempt real estate auctioneers from the license tax of $50 a year, but without

Mr. Inman moved to reduce it to $50. Mr. Hendrix was with him.

Mr. Hendrix was with him.
The reduction was made.
Eating and lunch houses $25, without permission to keep open on Sunday.
Mr. Hulsey wanted to give them Sunday.
But he was the only generous member of the body and Sunday was not given.
Fortune tellers, or astrologers, were charged $100 in 1889, and the committee made no change. But when the clerk read it Mr. Hendrix arose and indirnantly asked:

drix arose and indignantly asked:
"Do we license fortune-tellers?"
"Yes," answered Mayor Pro Tem. Hutchison.
There was a general smile.
"Then I'm for wiping them out," said Mr.

Hendrix.
"I'm for taxing them," said Mr. Inman.
"I move to make it $200," said Mr. Rein-"I move," said Mr. Hulsey, "that we wipe 'em out and prescribe a penalty for doing the

On Mr. Hulsey's motion the ayes and nays were called.

"I am opposed to that," said Mr. Hendrix.
"That tax has driven the abstract company out of town. It is a great disadvantage to land selling, too. Mr. Collins says he can't pay it, and has moved his books home."
The license was made $10.
Liquor, beer and wine at retail was left $1,000, same as last year.
"Beer and malt liquors $100," said the clerks.

"Beer and malt liquors $100," said the clerks.

Instantly Mr. Middlebrooks was up.

"I think we ought to make that $200," he said, "or we ought to bring them inside the liquor limits and charge 'em $500."

"I'm opposed to any change," said Mr. Hirsch. "These men have a hard enough time to make a living at the $100."

"I think this beer saloon feature is the best feature of our liquor law," said Mr. Woodward. "Only a few days ago every beer saloon in the city was searched at almost the same time, and in only two was liquor found. Then it is preventing drunkards, too."

On the motion to increase the tax the ayes and nayes were asked. The call resulted:

Mr. Middlebrooks expressed a desire to increase the loan and building associations' tax from $25 to $50.

Mr. Haas opposed it.

So did Mr. Hulsey and Mr. Inman.

The tax was not changed.

Mr. Howell moved to increase the ticket scalpers' license tax from $50 to $200. The motion prevailed.

The motion prevailed. The Stockade Farm.
"I move," said Mr. Woodward, "that the bids for the stockade farm be opened."

There were four bids.

Harris & Nutting offered $555 an acre, one-third cash, balance in twelve months.

H. L. Woodward and Jas. F. Gatins offered $510 an acre on the terms advertised, or $500 cash. Then for the four acres which have been leased for ninety-nine years for a colored orphan home they offered $20 an acre subject to the lease.

Mr. Haas was for the report. So were Mr. Kontz and Mr. King.

Mr. Reinhardt was against the report. The report was adopted. The Luckle Street Car Franchise.

Mr. Joel Hurt, president of the Atlanta and Edgewood Street Car company, appeared be-fore the council under a suspension of the rules.

Several months ago the Atlanta and Edgewood street car line netitioned for a right of way over Luckie and Jones street and other streets in that section of the city. The petition, with another one from the Fulton countyline, was referred to the committee on electrical construction.

line, was referred to the committee on electrical construction.

The committee considered the petition and awarded the franchise to the Atlanta and Edgewood.

In the award the company was required to begin work within fifty days.

That time expired on May 28th.

At the last meeting of the general council the Atlanta and Edgewood line sent a communication to the general council touching the franchise.

At the same time the Metropolitan line sent the franchise.

At the same time the Metropolitan line sent in a petition for the franchise.

The new petition was referred to the electrical committee and yesterday a favorable report was made upon it.

Mr. Hurt, in addressing the council, asserted that his engineers had made a survey of the line, and according to the profile given by the city engineer, a grade of three percent had been secured. Then poles and material for construction had been ordered, but before work was commenced the grade was found to be six per cent. He did not think that he should lose his franchise because he had not begun actual building of the road. He assured the council that he firmly intended to build the road.

"When Mr. Hurt's petition came before us," said Mr. Woodward, "we had the petition of the Fulton county line. That line wanted to go out Luckie and cross to the Technological school. Mr. Hurt wanted to cross Jones street bridge and open alnew territory. We gave him the franchise and we gave him fifty days in which to get to work. All his rights expired May 28, and on June 2, he sent a letter here virtually abandoning it. On the same day the Metropolitan company asked for the franchise. The Athanta and Edgewood had for feited it and we gave it to the Metropolitan. Every member of the committe has signed that report.

Mr. Inman wanted to allow the Atlanta and

"Oh, give 'en a chance," said Mr. Meador, Mr. Middlebrooks was with Mr. Meador, and the section was not changed.

"That should be one year," said Mr. Hirsch.

and Edgewood line as any one. But I do not think it is right for us to refuse to grant a franchise to one road when the franchise another has had is dead. It is not treating the Metropolitan fair to kill their petition now and let other applicants in, especially when one of them has stepped upon their rights."

"I signed this report for the Metropolitan line," said Mr. King, "because I presumed Mr. Hurt was clean ont. I don't care who builds the line, just so it is built and we get a good one. I don't think we owe Mr. Hurt anything, neither do we owe the Metropolitan anything. The Fulton county was after it when Mr. Hurt got it. Then Mr. Hurt let his time expire, and I presumed he was clean off the track. As to that bridge I wouldn't vote to give that to anyone."

"I never heard of this Metropolitan petition before," said Mr. Kontz, "yet I'm satisfied it is all right. I don't think we owe Mr. Hurt anything; still I am in favor of giving, him a chance; I am in favor of sending it all back to the committee."

"I favor giving the Atlanta and Edgewood an extension of thirty days," said Mr. Reinhardt.

take it away from the company to which it has been given."

Mr. Hass was opposed to changing the report of the committee.

So was Mr. McBride.

Mr. Hendrix introduced a resolution extending the time of the Atlanta and Edgewood thirty days.

"That's the same as Mr. Inman's," said Mr. Woodward. "I'm opposed to it."

"I am in favor of adjusting this," said Mr. Howell. "Mr. Hurt deserves credit ror what he has done on his side of town, and will do the same along the new route. The Metropolitan line deserves credit, too, but I believe in giving Mr. Hurt a showing—."

"Hasn't he had a showing?" asked Mr. Woodward, interrupting the speaker.

"No, sir; he's been choked off. I don't like the way this has been worked in the committee, any how," continued Mr. Howell.

Mr. Hulsey argued in favor of giving Mr. Hurt more time, and, in doing so, said:

"He's no Arrowood. He ain't here to secure a franchise to sell."

Mr. Reinhardt didn't like Mr. Hulsey's remark shout Mr. Arrowood.

"I am personally responsible to Mr. Amorus for all I say about him," said Mr. Hulsey, "or to any of his friends who want to take it up."
Mr. Hulsey then introduced a resolution as a substitute for all, placing the entire matter in the hands of the committee again, and the resolution was adopted.
Mr. Haas moved that the body adjourn until 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and the motion prevailed.

norning.

Between 9 and 10 o'clock a crowd of negro boys were engaged in a game of ball.

An altercation 'arose over some disputed point, and from words the beiligerent baseballists came to blows.

For a short time bats and ball filled the air indiscrimately.

For a short time bats and ball filled the air indiscriminately.

In the scrimmage Neal Williams, the son of a negro preacher, jerked out a pistol and fired a shot into the left side of another negro named Henry Reynolds.

The wound was so serious as to produce instant unconsciousness, and the boy had to be carried to his home in Reynoldstown.

Reynolds is seriously hurt and at late accounts he was not considered out of danger.

ON TO DOUGLASVILLE.

THE NORTHERN-BORN GEORGIANS

Preparations Are Being Made For a Big Reception and a Big Barbecue—A Meeting of the Atlanta Society Today.

The convention of northern-born citizens of Georgia, to be heid at Douglasville, on Wednesday, promises to be a big success.

The people of Douglasville have been untiring in their efforts to prepare an entertaining programme for the visitors, and everybody who goes will doubtless have a most enjoyable

Senator Joe James, who is greatly interested in the convention, was talking about the preparations.

"We expect a big crowd," he said, "not only of northern-born citizens, but of southern-ers as well. An old-fashioned barbecue and basket dinner, has been arranged for the large crowd that will assemble, arrangements having been made for 5,000 people.

"Governor Gordon will address the convention in the forenoon, and an interesting programme will engage the crowd the balance of the day. There will be speeches by prominent citizens from all parts of Georgia, and there will also be other interesting features."

There is no doubt about this being an enjoyable occasion, and all who attend will be well pleased and entertained. This is the first general step taken in Georgia by the northernborn citizens, who live here, toward presenting to their northern friends the condition of the south and their treatment here, and also to present to the world our boundless resources They should have the undivided support and ncouragement of all citizens.

There is no doubt but a great deal of good

There is no doubt but a great deal of good can be accomplished by a movement of this kind, and it is to be hoped that this convention will prove all that the most enthusiastic movers in this direction hope for it.

For the special accommodation of those who desire to attend—and there will undoubtedly be a big crowd from Atlanta—a Georgia Pacific train will leave the union depot at 8 a. m. Wednesday, returning to the city at 7:15 p. m. . m. Tickets will be sold at one fare for the round

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the Northern society at 43 Walton street today at 12 o'clock. Colonel W. L. Glessner, of Americus, will be present, and matters of importance relating to the convention of northern men at Douglasville will be discussed.

CAPTAIN JACK'S STORY. He Says He Flung the First Confederate Flag to the Breeze on the Mississippi.

SARATOGA, June 16.—The first confederate flag ever flung to the breeze on the Mississippi was raised by Captain J. F. Jack. He is a guest here, and he gives an interesting account of the incident and of his eventful life. He

of the incident and of his eventful life. He says:

"I was born in 1830 in Ohio. In 1847 I drifted down to New Orleans, and there, without friends or money, began the battle of life. Shortly afterward I joined a circus, and traveled with it on the road. Then we went up and down the Mississippi river on a floating palace, touching at towns along the shore and giving entertainments. This palace was 200 feet long, 50 feet wide, and would seat 2,000 people. I ran this boat for our company until 1859, when I took charge of the Banjo, a smaller craft. On this boat I had a number of French Zouaves, who gave musket drills. As is59, when I took charge of the Banjo, a smaller craft. On this boat I had a number of French Zouaves, who gave musket drills. As soon as Fort Sumter was fired upon I ran the craft up to Vicksburg and sold out everything, even to the muskets, which were purchased by the confederates. Then I came north and remained a few days in New York, but, as my feelings and interests were all with the southern people, I returned to New Orleans, purchased a passenger boat, called the Charm, and proceeded up the river. Arriving at Vicksburg I met the Prince, a small steamer in command of Captain Reeves, coming down. It was while we were moored at Vicksburg that I hoisted the confederate flag. You see at that time every one was making a decided stand for one side or the other, and one day Captain Reeves came aboard the Charm. He had a confederate flag in his hand, and he said to me: 'Captain Jack, these are the colors we are sailing under now.' I said 'All right,' and taking the flag I nailed it on a long pole, and lashed the pole to the mainmast. But, understand me, if it were to be done once again, I would not do it. In fact, no colors would go to the top of my mainmast except the stars and stripes. After that I continued to run steamboats in southern waters until 1875, when my health failed, and since that time, with grip in one hand and pocket-book in the other, I have explored the world, and especially the United States, which is to my mind the greathave explored, the world, and especially the United States, which is to my mind the greatest country on top of God's earth. I have lived at various times in eighty-seven cities of the union. This is my first visit to Saratoga, As a general thing my summers are spent in Newport."

COUNTING THE FOLKS.

THE CENSUS-TAKERS WINDING UP THEIR WORK.

Thousands Not Yet Counted, But Their Names Will Not Be Missed-Cleaning Over the Districts for Those Omitted.

Speed the enumerators.
Yesterday was the biggest one of all for the census takers.

census takers.

The people, prompted by the importance of helping the enumerators along, and aided by The Constitution's complete schedule of queries, were ready for the men who are counting them.

Thousands have been counted and the records laid away in the supervisor's office, and several thousand more were added to the pile last night.

The work is fairly humming.

Everybody is enthused and looking forward with eagerness to the day when the final count s made and given to the world. What will the population be? Will it reach 100,000?

Such are the questions that are being asked of the enumerators, in the supervisor's office, in the streets—everywhere.

WINDING UP THEIR WORK. Last night a number of enumerators reported that they were winding up their work, and would probably be ready to make a final report tonight. They are now at work counting the folks in the stores, shops, hotels and offices in the central part of the city, the work on the outskirts having been pretty well finished in each district.

It is interesting to watch the enumerators return from their day's work, now as their task is almost at an end.

"Every name is taken in my district," says one of the counters, as he breathes in relief.

But the supervisor hands him a note from a person living in his district, saying his name had not been taken, and he has to go out over the work again.

Thus it goes day after day.
Hundreds of names will pour into the supervisor's office that were omitted in the count.

and the enumerators are sent back to "clean" their district. The people are determined to make Atlanta show up for all she is worth.

If there are 100,000 people here the census

nust show it. Now, send in your names today, if they have not been taken. Send in the names of any-body that is absent from the city and has not een counted among Atlanta's thousands.

Everybody push the census! GOVERNOR STANLEY.

The Explorer Accepts the Governor-Generalship of Congo Free State. BRUSSELS, June 16.—Henry M. Stanley has been tendered and has accepted the governor generalship of Congo Free State. Got Rid of His Stepmother. COLUMBIA, S. He and a brother planned the ex-ecution of their father's new wife, who disecution of their father's new wife, who displeased them. They got an old gun and secreted themselves by the spring and waited until the stepmother came for water. Jason took aim from ambush and killed the woman. The murder was deliberately planued, but it is possible the youth of the criminal will save him.

The Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, June 16.—Futures opened at a considerable decline and further gave way in the morning hour. The Liverpool report was a great disappointment to our bulls, and some of them unloaded quite freely. The slight recovery which took place just before last call, and was led by July option, was a result of speculative manifestation, and said to be prompted by parties interested in spot cotton at Liverpool, but gave only temporary strength to the market, and the close was dull at figures showing but a slight and partial recovery from the lowest prices of the day. Crop reports were good except from the lower valley of the Mississippi, where dry, warm weather is needed. Cotton on spot was dull and weak.

PEOPLE WHO HAVE GONE TO THE RESORTS

and Those Who Haven't-The Hoyle-Gaines Wedding at Knoxville on Thursday-Picnics and Other Events.

Miss Charlie Beall leaves for Lumpkin this morning to spend a short vacation with her parents. That she will enjoy the visit goes without saying, as Miss Beall is a universal favorite at her old home, where a hearty welcome awaits her. Since Miss Reall made Atlanta her home she has been under the tutelage of the best musical in-structors in the south, which has perfected her pure soprano voice, and competent musical critics predict for her a brilliant and successful future, as her talents are of a decided character. She has quite a large class in music who will resume their studies upon her return. Miss Beall, upon invifa-tion, sang at the Central Presbyterian church on Sunday last and made a most favorable impression upon the cultured audience.

The E. T. club gave its annual picnic at Iceville yesterday in honor of its president, Miss Berta Roberts. The party consisted of Misses Clara and Eloise Tolbert, Berta Roberts, Emma and Ida Harding, Mary Hand, Mattie Lester, Aline Harraison and Rosa Hunnewell; Messrs. Will Purtell, Wade Harding, Will Shadden, Dolph Walker, Will Roberts, doe Beardsley and Alton Bradberry. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. W. J. Roberts, Mrs. W. C. Tolbert and Mrs. H. A. Keppel.

Mrs. Winter, so well known here in Atlanta, has gone on to New York with her little grand child, George Robertson, of Augusta, who was recently bitten by a mad dog. The object of her visit is to place the child under the care of the Pasteur specialists there, it being feared that the child may be attacked with hydrophobia. The many friends of all the relatives of the little fellow hope that these fears may prove groundless.

Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Hoke Smith and families have returned from St. Simon's, where they have been for some days.

On Thursday evening of this week the wedding of Miss Gaines and Mr. Frank Hoyle will take place in Knoxville. A number of Atlanta people will attend the ceremonies, among them Dr. N. O. FROM OUR NOTEBOOK, Architecture and Building.—Mr. T. H. Boorman, representing that live and substantial paper "Architecture and Building" of New York, is in Atlanta, in the interest of his journal. Atlanta is an inviting field for such literature just at present, and with such a genial representative as Mr Boorman, the advancement of his paper is assured in the city.

A Military Meeting .- The Gordon Rifles held an enthusiastic meeting last Thursday night, at which two new members were elected. The comwhich two new members were elected. The company is composed mostly of mechanics, and they are sure to make good soldiers. Tuesday the company will order their uniforms. Both fatigue and dress uniforms will be very pretty. The Rifles will drill twice a week from now on until October, when they will enter the Piedmont drill, where they hope to carry off some of the prizes. The success of the company has been splendid, each member taking a particular interest in it. A fine armory has been secured on Whitehall street.

Run Into by the Dummy.—Saturday morning Mrs. Nettie Powell was seriously injured by a collision on the dummy line, near Grant park. Mrs. Powell was in a carriage along with several friends. The horses became frightened at the approaching dummy and wheeled directly across the track. Before the engine's speed could be checked the vehicle was run down and the occupants thrown to the ground. Mrs. Powell's leg was broken and otherwise seriously bruised. None of the others were hurt. Mrs. Powell was taken to her boarding-house on South Pryor street, and at last accounts was resting well.

That Wonderful Star.—The much-talked-about and much-wondered-at "star" which floated across the gouthern horizon Sunday night, is no longer a mystery. Mrs. Dana, at the Hebrew orphans' home, to amuse the children, sent up an illuminated paper balloon—no star about it, after all. But is created no little talk, and the theories about it were many.

About Soit Springs.—President Maddox, of the Atlanta and Florida, had a good word to say for the Chautauqua grounds upon his return from there yesterday.

"There is a good crowd at the hotel," said he, "and it is filling up very rapidly. A large party of Atlanta people have engaged rooms there for the summer: also a large party from Anniston and another from Jacksonville, Fla. The table is as good as there is in the country, and that water just can't be beat. The music is good, and everything is in first-class shape for the summer."

An Able Representative.—Hon. James A. Dodgen, representative of Milton county, was in Atlanta yesterday on business. Mr. Dodgen was one of the most active and earnest members of the last house, and never entered a fight or supported a measure that he did not go into it with gloves off. He made many warm friends, who are watching his race for the senatorship from his district with a great deal of interest. His record is such as to justify his promotion, and if he serves his district as well as a senator as he served his county as a representative, his people would have no cause of complaint.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.— There will be an important meeting of the Wo-man's Foreign Mission societies of the Methodist churches of this city in the lecture-room of Trin-ity church this Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. All the members of each society are earnestly re-quested to be present.

They Get Two New Schools.—On yesterday the Ruttan Manufacturing company, south, closed contracts with the hoard of education for the two new schools to be supplied with the Ruttan-Smead system of heating and ventilation. The great success of this system is being recognized substantially in all parts of the south.

To Attend the Convention.—Dr. M. W. Durham and Mrs. Durham, herself prominent as a physician, left Sunday morning for Niagara Falls, where they go to attend the meeting of the Narional Eclectic Medical association.

THE BATTALION BAND.

The Subscription List Opened Yesterday in Colonel Calhoun's Office. The Fourth Georgia Battalion band is an assumed fact.
Colonel W. L. Calhoun is actively at work in the matter, and this being so there can be but little doubt of the ultimate grand success of Colonel Calhoun has the reputation of carry Colonel Calhoun has the reputation of carry-ing things through when he once begins [The battalion band has enlisted his heartiest ef-forts, and it goes without saying that he will give Atlanta such a band as she has never had before, the equal of any in the country, with before, the equal of any in the country, with but few exceptions. Already a number of subscriptions have been handed Colonel Calhoun to be used in the purchase of instruments and uniforms for the band. From now on an active canvass will be made, and from the encouragement Colonel Calhoun has already received, it will be but a short time before the full two thousand dollars will be secured.

It is the intention to have a band of thirty pieces, with probably a string band also. The band will be under the order of the colonel of the 'Fourth Georgia Battalion, and will turn out at his command.

The members of the band will be regularly enlisted in the state militia service, for one year, which will do much in the way of making a perfect organization.

Atlanta and the state have needed a first-class band for a long time, but this is the first business-like move yet made to secure it.

At any time the band will be at liberty to serve on private or public occasions, and in this way it will be maintained.

Colonel Calhoun has been working upon the band scheme in a quiet way for some time, and among business men and everybody he has received encouragement at every hand.

He hopes to have the band organized and in fine trim in time to make a bid for the next Piedmont exposition engagement.

Colonel Calhoun has been in consultation with a number of leading musicians of the city, and as soon as the money is raised he will be able to enlist at once a full corps of players.

There is to be nothing of a second-class order about the band. It will be such an organization as Atlanta will take pride in.

Every citizen of Atlanta will enjoy the fine music of the battalion band. It will be a sort of public institution for the promotion of the of public institution for the pro-happiness of the people.

BAD NEWS FOR BLONDES.

Reasons for Thinking Fair Hair Is Becom-ing Extinct.

From the British Medical Journal.

In forming opinions as to whether fair-haired persons are less numerous in a particular locality now than formerly, the element of age has to be considered. A person who has spent his childhood in a fair-haired district, and visits it again after a large of verse ways. contained that a rair-naired district, and visits it again after a lapse of years, may easily imagine that the number of fair-haired persons is fewer than formerly, merely on account of the class of persons from whom he count of the class of persons from whom he draws the inference being more adult than those of whom he has recollections formerly. Upon the rate at which hair darkens from childhood to adult age we have some valuable observations, which show that the hair of light-complexioned male children darkens from 55 per cent during the first five years of life to 33 per cent at 45 years, and dark hair with light eyes is found to increase in about the same ratio. Darkening of the female hair and eyes with age takes place to a much less extent than among males. It would appear, therefore, that in estimating the increase or diminution of fair-haired persons in a particular district observations on females are much more trustworthy than on males, from the fact that they are much less liable to variations; but, on the other hand, it must be remembered that the color of a woman's hair is more liable to alter according to the tint which is considered the most fashionable at a particular time.

Besides the blending of fair-haired races with the dark stocks, there are other elements which Dr. Beddoe has shown may account for the diminution of fair hair in England, and these should not be overlooked. He considers that the vanthous temperament is less able to that the xanthous temperament is less able to withstand the unsanitary conditions existing in the crowded populations of our great cities than the melanotic, and that in this way the law of natural selection operates against its

Again, as a large majority of women live and die unmarried and childless, it is probable, and die ummarried and childless, it is probable, in his opinion, that the physical qualities of the race may be to a small extent molded by the action of conjugal, as well as natural selections. In support of this he has given statistics showing that of 737 women only 55.5 per cent of those with fair hair were married, against 79 per cent with black hair, while 37 per cent with fair hair were unmarried, against 18 per cent with black. On classifying those with red, fair, and brown hair as "blonde," and those with dark brown and black hair as "dark," we have 359 of the former and 361 of the latter. Of the blondes he found 60 per cent were married to 70.5 of former and 361 of the latter. Of the blondes he found 60 per cent were married to 70.5 of the dark, and 32 per cent of the former were unmarried to 21.5 of the latter.

If during several generations this preference among the male sex for wives with dark hair should continue, it is reasonable to suppose it would exert an influence decidedly adverse to the increase of fair-haired persons being maintained. On various grounds, therefore, it would seem as if the fair hair so much beloved by poets and artists is doomed to be encreached upon and even replaced by that of darker hue. The rate at which this is taking place is probably slow, from the fact that nature is more conservative in her changes.

Cruel, fashionable mother! Why don't you look after the welfare of your sickly little child? The nurse hasn't sense enough to get it a box of Dr. Bull's Worm Destroyers.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Ch'ld, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

READY FOR BUSINESS.

THE MELON EXCHANGE OPENS UP ITS OFFICES. And President Forrester Talks of the Situation and the Outlook—The Exchange, He Says, Promises Much Good. "Yes, we're here, and here for business." The president of the Melon-growers' Exchange stood in the door of the exchange office, 13 East Alabama street, as he answered his friend's greeting. Mr. Forrester, in his shirt sleeves, had been busily directing his assistants in the work of arranging matters for the active melon campaign.

"Yes," he continued, "we are here. The exchange is an assured fact and, I may add, an "You have the crop-

"We know that we will control ninety per cent of the melon crop. I have been over the entire ground, and I know whereof I speak." Then he began to speak of the objects of the exchange. "As an extensive grower myself, and speaking as I do for nine-tenths of the growers of Georgia, I believe this exchange will be a great benefit. It is in no sense a monopoly, and anybody who says it is simply does not understand the facts in the case. It is an organization for judicious distribution of the crop—nothing more. There will be no adof prices, but we will prevent, by sensible shipment, glutting the market at any one point while there is a scarcity at some other point. The melon-grower will be bene-fited by having his fruit carried forward promptly. Last year I lost forty cars through the evils which we aim to correct, and many other shippers had the same experience. That set us thinking and we came to the conclusion that there was something radically wrong somewhere. We think a judicious distribution of the crop the remedy—hence the exchange."

"But there is some kicking."
"From some of the commission men—yes. But there need be none. They can get all the melons they want through the exchange agents and we are glad to sell to them and to everybody else. There will be no advance in prices-indeed they opened up this year lower than last. We prefer to sell them cheap and thereby handle them the more rapidly."

"From the present outlook," Mr. Forrester was asked, "do you think there will be a market for the entire melon crop?" "Oh, yes. Under this system of ours we will not only dispose of the crop readily, but we will be able to greatly increase our acreage. I have no doubt we can find a market for double the number of melons we now produce-per

Mr. Forrester was busy with a lot of tele-grams which illustrated the working of the exchange. Philadelphia said "Send ten cars daily."

Baltimore wanted eleven. Syracuse was in a hurry for melons and Chicago wanted five. "I will place 100 cars a day this week." said Mr. Forrester, "and when it gets warmer I will place as many as 300 cars a day. It is will place as many as 300 cars a day. It is warm here today, but not so warm north yet. I have a telegram from New York, saying it is cool there. "We have offly heard from one car. It was sold in Cincinnati for $300 to arrive. That is about equal to $200 at the shipping point. We have to make money on the first. We will lose on some later in the season."

"Have you heard from any of your ship-ments yet?"
"How much more will the growers get for "How much more will the growers get for their melons this year than heretofore?"
"From thirty-three to fifty per cent. We have a large part of the crop in advance at prices which give the growers this increase over the average of former years."

Mr. Forrester had in his hand a telegram from one of the Georgia agents of the exchange. It was from Metcalfe, and said simply."

simply:

"Am loading four cars today. Instruct."

"I have just telegraphed him to send them to Chicago," said Mr. Forrester, to the order of our agent there. Our agents at the shipping points have lists of our agents in the markets, and all we have to do is to wire them to send their cars to the markets, where we want to their cars to the markets where we want to place them."

With ten thousand cars to place in sixty days, that will keep Mr. Forrester pretty

"We will have a dozen men here at work," said he, "and a stenographer and typewriter. I expect I will have to have two stenograph. I have one hundred letters to answer now, besides a great many telegrams.

Is it well With Your Kidneys?

Few appreciate the constant duties performed by the Kidneys, yet fewer appreciate how easily these important organs are deranged. The Kidneys are bean-shaped, filled with arteries, veins and little tubes; these tubes filter the water from the blood; the water thus collected is poured into the urethe, and by them conducted into the bladder.

THE EAST TENNESSEE PEOPLE LEAVE FOR ST. SIMON'S.

The Central's Hapeville Accommodation Train-Abbeville and Waycross-Florida Midland and Georgia.

Quite a party of prominent East Tennessee officials and agents left Atlanta last evening for a week of pleasure and business, mostly sure, at St. Simon's.

This is the second annual convention. The idea of having the agents and officers meet once a year and become acquainted, exchanging business ideas, and at the same time enjoying themselves, originated with General Manager Hudson. The good results of the meeting last year determined Mr. Hudson to make it a regular annual convention.

Abbeville and Waveross. Track-laying is now in progress on this road and has been finished from Abbeville, Ga., on the south, to House creek, a dista thirteen miles, and it is expected to finish the line to Swan, a few miles further on, in a few lays. F. C. Hand, of Abbeville, Ga., is chief Florida Midland and Georgia.

The preliminary surveys for this line have been completed between Valdosta, Ga., and Deadman's Bay, Fla., on the Gulf of Mexico, a distance of about ninety miles. The locating Survey is now being made from the Florida state line, and as soon as it has been finished it s proposed to place under contract the section from the Florida line to the terminus on the Gulf of Mexico. The work of repairing the grade between Valdosta and the Florida state line will be begun within a few days, and pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. W. B. Thomas, of Tennille, Ga., is general letting sub-contracts for the construction of 185 miles of road from Macon, east.

Macon and Atlantic Contracts. Yesterday J. S. McTighe & Co. commenced

This is the Macon and Atlantic, controlled, like the Macon and Birmingham, by Georgia Southern and Florida stockholders.

The surveyors are running the location of the Macon and Birmingham between the Georgia state line and Birmingham, and are now between the Coosa river and Birmingham. The survey has been made as far as the river. The survey has been made as far as the river, and will be finished within the next two weeks. The line passes through Roanoke, Talladega and Leeds. Work on the eastern end of the road is still being pushed. Much new rolling stock has been received of late, and thirty miles of the road west of Macon will be in operation in a short time. Nearly 2,000 men are at work. Grading on the Savannah extension of the road out of Macon has begun.

The Millen and Southern.

The Millen and Southern. The Millen and Southern.

J. M. Willis, of Thrift, Ga., has been awarded the contract for grading the section of road from Thrift, northeasterly to Millen, Ga., on the Central road, a distance of eleven miles. The town of Millen is to be the northern terminus of the road, and when it has been completed to that point the line between Thrift and Rogers will probably be abandoned. The contracts for about twenty miles of the southern extension of the road from Summit to Stirling, Ga., will probably be awarded in a short time. The survey has already been made. PEOPLE WITH SOMETHING TO SAY,

"I noticed something yesterday," said Mr. W. H. Patterson, as he stood in the Atlanta National bank yesterday, "that made me begin to think I'm not as young as I was twenty-five years ago. It was out at Grant park, where the band was playing and a thousand or more neonle was breathing freely in and listenia. people were breathing fresh air and listening to the music. Among the tunes were two that carried me back a good many years-'The Bonnie Blue Flag,' and 'The Girl I Left Behind Me.' I'll bet I have run fifty miles following a band that played 'The Girl I Left Behind Me,' but I don't believe there were two dozen people in that crowd who recognized either time. is what struck me most forcibly. Everybody knows 'Dixie' because it is played so much, but the only person who made any sort of demonstration of 'The Bonnie Blue Flag' was an old one-legged fellow, evidently a vet-eran, who grabbed off his hat and threw it as high as he could the minute he heard the tune. The young folks today know more about 'Where Did You Get That Hat?' and 'Little Annie Rooney' than they do of the songs that used to enthuse their fathers."

Somebody asked Mr. Patterson about the Luckie street line which the Metropolitan company proposes to build, winding up his question with, "Is it a bluff?"
"Not by any manner of means," said Mt.

"Just let the council grant us the privilege we ask, and you'll see that we mean business.

There is a splendid territory there awaiting development and we are anxious to develop it." The Atlanta and Edgewood is, it seems, also anxious to get hold of that territory; so does the Atlanta and so does the Fulton County-all recognize the value of the territory, or Atlanta is growing so rapidly that street railway franchises have became very valuable. There is no agency so potent in the up-building of a section of the city as a street railway, and nobody realizes that more than the rail-roadmen. The success of the Fulton County Electric lines shows what a road can do in that line, and shows, too, that a road builds up a clientege. The Courtland avenue and West Peachtree lines prove this. Both pay well, and still the Peachtree line is in no way injured by being par-alleled on either side.

Several gentlemen were standing in Frank Lester's book-store yesterday, when this ques-tion of quick transit came up for discussion.

"Do you know, in my opinion," began one,
"there is nothing that shows
Atlanta's Metropolitan character as much as this new train Superintendent Starr, of the Central, has put on between Atlanta and Hapeville, When the Central, or any other road, finds that it pays to run an hourly train to the suburbs, Atlanta is, indeed, a big city. And mark what I say, the value of property between Atlanta and Hapeville is just doubled by that move on the part of the Central. Superintendent Starr certainly deserves the thanks of the people along the line, and the hourly trains will develve the black of the people along the line, and the hourly trains will doubtless be liberally patronized all along the

A Safe Guard.

Few people living in a malarial country but occasionally need a vigorous tonic, either to keep off the malarial feeling or else to cure the disease if it once gets into the system. There keep off the malarial feeling or else to cure the disease if it once gets into the system. There is no more uncomfortable disease that affects humanity than chills and fever. It drives away energy and ambition. It makes one feel sick and mean all over. A safe guard against the disease and a sure cure is Smith's Tonic Syrup, made by Dr. John Bull, of Louisville, Ky. A single bettle will do for an entire family. It is far better than quinine, as no derangement of the system ever follows its use. The use of quinine causes a buzzing in the ears, dizzy sensations, nausea and sometimes even convulsions and paralysis. Use Smith's Tonic Syrup and all such danger is avoided. In fact it has all the good medicinal qualities of quinine with none of its evil nature.

Judge Lawrence, of the supreme court of New York, has just decided that Dr. I. G. B. Siegert & Sons have the exclusive right to the trade mark and name of Angostura Bitters, and has granted them an injunction against C. W. Abbott & Co., of Baltimore, restraining them from using that name or putting up goods in imitation of the Angostura Bitters.

GORDON WHITE, WHO WAS TO HANG TODAY, RESPITED.

A Fourteen-Year-Old Boy Convicted of Rape. Mr. Wallace Resigns From the Board of Examiners.

Governor Gordon saved a man's life yesterday.

This was by a respite in the case of Gordon White, who but for this action would have been hung at Fort Gaines today.

been hung at Fort Gaines today.

The gallows was constructed, and all arrangements made for the execution.

White is a negro boy about fourteen years of age. His crime is rape, and the case is a remarkable one for the fact that his intended victim was a white infant just eighteen wonths old.

He was convicted May 16th, and sentenced to hang June 17th.

The respite is for an indefinite length of time, to allow an examination, and is quite probable that the death sentence will be commuted to imprisonment for life. This is done for several reasons. The child was not hurt the petition for pardon bringing out the fact that the crime was not consummated-and amongst the petitions are the mother of the child. Mrs. Edgar Adams, and the two grand-Then another consideration is the youth of the prisoner; a mere boy. The evdence, moreover, was largely circumstantial.

The petition for commutation is a very strong one, signed by the judge and jury that tried the case, the solicitor, nearly every county officer in Clay county, and by a great many prominent citizens.

It was presented before the governor by Mr.

John R. Irwin, a young lawyer of Fort Gaines, and to his earnest and vigorous presentation of the case is due much of the credit for its success at the capitol.

The sentence has not yet been commuted, though very probably it will be. The order issued yesterday merely respited the execution until further orders. The Board of Examiners.

Mr. Charles B. Wallace, after accepting the position as one of the board of examiners for the Western and Atlantic, under the tenth section of the lease act, has resigned it.

He did so for the reason that he did not beieve a thorough and satisfactory examination of the road-bed could be made inside of ten days, as provided by law. Yesterday afternoon Mr. W. L. Clarke, of columbus. Ga. was appointed.

Mr. John Screven, of Chatham, is chairman of the board. Their work begins this morning. They will probably spend today in At-lanta, starting out over the road in the morn-Going to Augusta.

Rates for the Peabody Institute. State School Commissioner Hook received this letter yesterday, relative to the rates for the Peabody institute at Salt Springs:

ATLANTA, Ga., June 13, 1890.—Judge J. S. Hook, State Superintendent—Dear Sir: I beg to advise that I have arranged rates of one full fare going and one-third of the highest limited fare returning, on the certificate plan, as explained in the en-elosed circular, form 7, for persons attending the session of the Peabody institute, to be held at Salt Springs, Ga., July 1-21, 1890; certificates to be signed by you, as state superintendent, and rates to apply from points in Georgia only.

Persons attending this meeting from points beyond the line of the Georgia Pacific railway should you the line of the decign racine railway should be instructed to purchase tickets to Atlanta, Ausz-tell, Jesup or Alliany (as may be most convenient); and repurchase to Salt Springs, taking certificates from both agents from whom tickets are secured. The certificate obtained at Atlanta, Austell, Jesup or Albany (as the case may be), will then be hon-ored at Salt Springs for the excursion rate return-ing to the point at which it was secured, and the other will be honored at that point for the excursion rate returning thence to the starting point, if presented on or before July 24, 1800.

In order that there may be no difficulty in securing the reduced rate whatever to persons attending this meeting, I would respectfully suggest that you adopt the second paragraph of this letter as your "instructions to delegates" in your printed notice. Trusting that this will be satisfactory to you, Yours very truly,

M. SLAUGHTER, Assistant Commissioner.

The Cassell Publishing company, of New York, publish three editions of the "Journal of Marie Bashkirtseff." The one they first issued at $2.00 has been reduced to $1.50; there is another in plainer binding at $1.00, and a third in paper at 50 cents. These editions are printed from the same plates. Nothing has been "suppressed" in this translation of Mile. Bashkirtseff's Journal. Mrs. Serrano simply left out such parts as were uninteresting or trivial. One of the very reasons why the sale of the American edition of this journal has so far exceeded that in the original French is the very fact of judicious editing on the part of the translator. MEETINGS.

MILITARY WEEK.

THE PRIZES THAT THE EXPOSITION COMPANY WILL OFFER.

Preparations for the Greatest Military Weel Ever Experienced in the South-Compa-nies All Over the South Coming.

The exposition drills are fixed.

The Marmaduke Guards, of Kansas City, will enter. The Omaha Guards, of Omaha, Nebraska want to come.

The Muscatine Rifles, of Muscatine, Iowa, speak about coming down to enter for the contest, and many other companies in the south and throughout the country are writing letters every day for particulars about the exposition drills Never were the circumstances more favorable for this feature of the exposition, and awake to the vast interest now felt in military matters The military committee of the Exposition company is holding a meeting every day to arrange the greatest military attractions ever witnessed

The exposition drill ground seems to be the attraction throughout the land at present, and letters are being received by the score from every quarter of America asking about the prizes offered and the programme of military week.

The Committee's Meeting. The military committee of the Exposition company has agreed upon the prizes for the competitive drills.

The matter was settled at the meeting yes terday afternoon, and the money will be divided as follows: Interstate infantry-"six four" drill, first prize, $2,000; second prize, $500. State infantry—"four four" drill, first prize, $1,000; second price, $500; third prize, $250: fourth prize, $100.

In this drill all the infantry companies in the state may enter for the prizes except the Atlanta Rifles, the Gate City Guards, of Atlanta, and the Southern Cadets, of Macon.

The prize for squad drills and individual drills will be one hundred and fifty dollars. For cavalry prizes one thousand dollars will be given, but the division of the amount into separate prizes has not yet been made by the military committee.

One thousand and five hundred dollars will be divided into prizes for artillery, zouave and school cadet drills, the proportions having not yet been made out.

The juvenile companies that enter the special drills arranged for them, will get a first prize of $50 and a second prize of $25. The other prizes for cavalry, zouaves and artillery drills will be arranged in a few days. the committee on military matters, and the rules and complete programme of the military week laid out and adopted.

The military drills will begin the second week of the exposition and will last from Monday, October 20th, to the end of the week. THE SHAM BATTLE.

On Thursday of military week, the sham battle will take place. Every company that competes for a prize will be required to enter the sham battle, as the prizes will not be awarded until after battle, and those companies failing to enter, whether they have won a prize or not, will be The military committees will endeavor to make this a special feature of the week, and will show such a sham battle as will be realistic in the extreme WESTERN COMPANIES COMING. The Rifles seem to have captivated the soldiers during their recent visit to the west.

All of them want to come to Atlanta to enter the prize drills. Yesterday Secretary Charles Arnold, of the Exposition company, received a letter from Mr. Fred W. Fleming, of Kansas City, asking for information about the military week and for the amounts of prizes

Mr. Fleming stated that the interest in the exposition drills out west was grow-ing warmer every day, and he thinks almost certain that a large number of companies from the west will come. Among those of which he spoke most confidently about coming to Atlanta were the Marmadukes, the Omaha Guards and the Muscatine Rifles, of, Iowa. Several St. Louis companies also speak favorably about coming. A letter has been received by the manage ment from Mr. M. C. Burke, superintendent of the Alabama State Fair and Exposition company, asking for the prizes offered and the military programme. He thinks a number of companies will enter the interstate drill from

In connection with the above notice, I wish to thank the many friends and members who have expressed to me a desire that I continue in the presidency of the chamber; but having served you two terms, and having given considerable time and attention to building up the organization, I respectfully ask to be relieved.

Our association is now in a splendid condition, and the annual report, which will in a few days come from the hands of the printer, will, I feel certain, be a gratifying showing of the general interests of this city. Very respectfully, J. G. OGLESBY, Pres't. We have some beautiful, well-shaded lots on Juniper street for sale, and are now offering for sale those lots fronting on Peachtree street in front of Goode and others. We can sell this property on very liberal terms, and no better place can you find to build you a cozy little or large home than on Peachtree or Juniper streets. Examine these lots and let's see if we cannot sell one to you We have also for sale three 5-room houses on Moore and Ezra streets, in the western part of the city—they rent for $30 per month—on lots 40x120 each. The party wants money, and besides his business calls him for a time to another city. He wants to sell—offers a bargain. Somebody wants this place. Call and we will show it to you.

Macon, Ga., June 12, 1800.—William W.
Habersham—Dear Sir: I notice an artile in The Constitution of the 11th instant, which interests me very much, as I recollect
ery well when your father, Dr. Habersham, ound the mastedon, as he sent me a couple of pecimens showing what it was, one of which ras a tooth, and the other a part of a rib bone ervice to you in recovering the skeleton, you can have them.

This is the only specimen of mastodon found in Georgia, but four mammoths have been lound in the southern part of the state. Hon, James Hamilton Couper found one nine miles from Brunswick, which he gave to the scademy of science of Philadelphia, where it was put up and where I think it still is.

I found a very large mammoth about two miles from where Mr. Couper found his, and I still have the more interesting and important earts in my cabinet. I have four teeth from other animals found in this section. These sere all found in the quicksand, or what is saufity called green sand, which extends all long the coasts of Georgia.
I hope you may secure your father's mastona, as it is the only one ever found in this state, and it will give me pleasure to aid you any way in my power in doing this. Yours ery truly.

New Machine Shop—The Shoe Froduct—
Another Cotton Factary.

Cordelle, Ga., June 16.—[Special.]—Last reek was organized the Cordele machine shops, charter having been previously obtained. The capital stock paid in is $20,000, with swilege of increasing same to $100,000. R., Tomlin, a sterling business man of Butler, ia., was elected president. Mr. Russell C. larris was elected secretary and treasurer, and Mr. John W. Foster, of Massachusetts, was lected superintendent. They will commence ork immediately.

lected superintendent. They will commence ork immediately.

Dr. C. N. Howard, a young physician of this lace, who has made quite a reputation in his rofession, leaves to take a third course of setures, in special surgery at the Post-Gradate Medical college, in New York city.

The Cordele shoe factory is turning out 300 a 500 pairs of shoes per day.

There is some talk of building another $100,000 cotton-mill here. If it were not for the highprice of cotton compared with the low lost of goods, it would be built immediately. In a few days a number of capitalists here sill organize a large timber company for the surpose of buying up the cheap timbered lands if this section, and holding them at a higher rice. Mr. W. W. Shipp is at the head of this lovement.

Great indignation is expressed here against he census enumerator, who spent two or three lays here, and who was a perfect stranger to all of our people. At least one-third of he people were not taken at all by him. There are dozens of dwellings in the city at which he never called. A list of these are being prepared.

Captain Wilcox, who has the contract for patting in the waterworks, is rapidly pushing to completion. The system, when completed, will cost about $20,000.

Richmond State Interview.

"What cities have you considered about the worst in your travels?"

Mr. Jones—I think Sacramento, San Franzisco, New Orleans and St. Louis, aboth in the order named. But in each and all of them I conducted successful meetings and made many converts. I repeat that Richmond will compare favorably with any city I have visited. I find all whom I have met gentlemanly and ladylike. It is, besides, a city of great natural behaty, and art has added to its attractions, "What do you think of the course of Rev. Sam W. Small?"

"Mr. Small's vacillating course has pained his friends, but they have confidence in his integrity. He has accepted the presidency of the Methodist college at Ogden, Utah. I have faith in him as a truly converted man, and look upon him as one of the most brilliant men in the country. Of course I can't judge him or explain his inconsistencies, but I believe him to be sincere."

"Do you think a man who preaches should engage in any other pursuits?"

"I believe in a preacher being without other entanglements, but I see no harm in his being a teacher, as the two professions are not antagonistic."

"What do you think of the preacher in po-onistic."

"What do you think of the preacher in po-

"What do you think of the preacher in politics?"

"In politics I am what is called a mugwump. I always vote for the best men in sight, and I oppose corruption and dishonesty in all parties. I am for prohibition all the time, but do not belong to the third party, and I have never made a political speech since I have been in the ministry. But I am independent, vote as I please, and that is all the part I take in politics. I vote because I have the same interest at stake as any other citizen."

"Do you expect always to preach, Mr. Jones?"

Jones?"
"Just as long as I have health and strength.
I love the work, and shall continue in it." "You are the patron of an orphanage, I be-

"You are the patron of an orphanage, I believe?"

"Yes; it is located at Decatur, near Atlanta, Ga. The secretary draws on me at sight the 15th of every month for money for its maintenance. Of course I have many contributions, but not near enough to support it. Most of the money for its maintenance I derive from my ministerial work"

"How about moderate drinkers?"

"Total abstinence is best. No man of sense should drink, but it won't hurt fools. Let them drink all they want and get out of the way, but men of brains and men who could be useful should not taste or touch it."

"Do you think the Savior, Paul or John the Baptist ever indulged in humor?"

"From their published lives, we have no evidence that they did. But of that we know nothing, and the world has changed since that day. In invective and denunciation they had no peers."

no peers."
"How about the money in the evangelistic

"How about the money in the evangelistic work?"
"I have never made a financial condition anywhere about my work. I have been well paid, but it has been by voluntary contributions of the people for whom I preached."

Mr. Jones to the reporter again denied the truth of the grandmother-in-hell story. He said it was a lie out of the whole cloth.

Speaking of the difference between the cities of the east and west, he said: "The towns out west were very hard, and he believed that hell was located due west."

Scene—First Dinner to the Family Physican by Young Married Couple.

FAMILY PHYSICIAN—Do you know, there seems to be a natural flavor about this food that is most appetizing? What method do you use in cooking it?

LADY OF THE HOUSE—Well, Doctor, when I was at home, my mother would have no other than a Charter Oak Stove. From my earliest recollection I remembered how she would praise it, and her cooking was superb. So when we were married I insisted on having the same kind of stove. Of course the improvements made on them since mother bought here, are most wonderful. Ours has all the latest, including the Wire Gausse Oven Boors. I don't understand the process exactly, but they tell me that all meats cooked in ovens with these doors, retain their juices and flavors to a much greater degree than by any other means. Can you explain the theory, Charles?

CHARLES (the Husband)—I can't remember all that was told me, but I know the Doctor can give a most clear and scientific statement of the reasons can; an not Doctor?

DOCTOR—Well, it is hardly professional to ask such information from a doctor; in fact, I am inclined to think he would not be helping his practice much by saying anything in favor of the Charter Oak Stoves. But as I have one in my kitchen, and know something about it, I think I can enlighten you. Of course it would take quite a long lecture to explain everything to you scientifically, and we have not time for that. Count Rumford, an An erican, who was Knighted in Europe for his scientific attainments, pointed out, nearly a hundred years ago, that baking and roasting meats in air tight ovens was wrong, and he proved it by actual experiments. He asserted that it was as essential to health that our food should be cooked in pure, fresh air as that we should breathe pure, fresh air, and that air tight ovens render the air impure, and the ode ocoked therein became tainted and unhealthy. But how to properly ventilate the oven was not discovered for many years after Count Rumford's time. The difficulty was to al

THE STOCK MARKET.

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The stock market today NEW YORK, June 12.—The stock market seen at the stock was the most featureless market seen at the stock exchange for months, and dealings in stocks composing the regular list present absolutely no occasion for comment. The course of prices was searcely perceptible at any time of the day, but scarcely perceptible at any time of the day, but there was a slight dropping tendency in the fore-noon, which gave way to a more confident tone later. Speculators and even investors are still waiting upon congressional action in the matter of the liver bill, and until some definite news is received, which will indicate the final result, stag-nation is likely to be the chief characteristic of dealings in stocks. The news of the day in regard to the radiced structured structure as a slight importance dealings in stocks. The news of the day in regard to the radiroad situation was of slight importance and had no influence one way or the other, and the small demand, as well as equally limited offerings of stocks, seemed to come from the professional element entirely. There was, as usual, under such circumstances, an attempt by the bears, ald d by room traders, to whom the stagnation in prices means little or no profits, to get prices down in the early forenoon by a most transparent deal in Suzar Refineries, but with the exception of efineries, but with the exception of g the price of that stock off about 11/4 per persons, and the dropping tendency shown in the reg-nlar hat during the forenoon, there was no result rom the effort. Stop orders in Sugar were placed from the effort. Stop orders in Sugar were placed in the market by bearish speculators, and a vigorous drive was made at the stock at the opening to reach these orders, which, of course, was successful, and from 83 the price dropped within the first few minutes to 80½. A quick rally to 82 followed, after which the stock remained quiet to duil at about 81½. The object of dislodging long stocks in the regular list was unaccomplished, and the most intense dullness settled down upon the market and was not lifted during the entire session. There was some selling of Oregon Transmarket and was not litted during the entire ses-sion. There was some selling of Oregon Trans-continental after the issue of the address of the stockholders giving the scope of the new deal and its prospects, which broke its price about 1 per cent. But the rest of the list for the whole day was cent. But the rest of the list for the whole day was moribund. The close was very dull and steady at about the first prices. There was no tendency in the prices shown by the final changes which were irregular, but for small fractions only, even Sugar closing within small fractions of its Saturday price after all the manipulation. Sales of listed aggregated 66,000 shares, unlisted 35,000.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, June 16—[Special.]—The Liverpool market opened this morning quiet at a partial advance of 1-64d on the near months and the distant unchanged. By 2 o'clock, however, the advance had been lost, and the market was nearly 2-64d lower than on Saturday, closing steady. Spot sales 6,000 bales. Tone dull. The apathetic charater of the foreign advices was a severe disappointment to those who bought cotton on Saturday, as an advance of at least 2-64din Liverpool was expected, and the market here opened at a decline of from 1@3 pounts, which about established the basis of the day's trading. Near positions have declined the most, and of these July has been relatively the weakest position. The close was steady at about the opening prices. The market has been devoid of any new features, and both sides seem content to preserve a waiting attitude. Sales of both long and short cotton for August delivery are restricted by the talk that is being made about possible heavy shipments from this market in the event of any further decline in the near positions, but should Liverpool continue to decline we think it more than likely that such shipments would be indefinitely deferred. It is therefore to Liverpool that we must look for any stimulus that is to be applied to the market. In our circular of Saturday we erroneously quoted Mr. Ellison as estimating the stocks of British spinners as 104,000 bales less than last year. We should have said more. Private crop advices continue in a very favorable strain—so favorable in fact that the only room for change would seem in the direction of a decline. New crops are comparatively firm, January showing a net decline of only 3@4 points.

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Wheat ruled active at the start, then quiet for a while around noon and later showed considerable life. The feeling developed snowed considerable life. The feeling developed was weak, and prices ruled lower all around, with the crowd rather bearishly inclined. A prominent trader was reported as being a free seller of all de liveries, and early the decline reached stop limit orders, which had a depressing tendency and further weakened prices. The northwest was reported as selling freely, and St. Louis parties were also reported as free sellers, more particularly at New reported as free sellers, more particularly at New York. The opening was about %@%c lower than Saturday's closing and continued to decline, with only slight fluctuations, 11%@13%c more, recovered about %c and then broke off ic again quite rapidly, ruled irregular and closed 2%@2%c lower than the closing figures on Saturday. Crop ad-vices from Missouri and Illinois were unfavorable. Corn—There was moderate trading at slightly lower prices, influenced mainly by the decline is wheat. The market opened at Saturday's closing, was easy and sold off 3/26 ½c, ruled steady and closed 3/26 ½c lower than Saturday.

Outs were traded in rather moderately, and a steady feeling prevailed, but price changes were

Mess pork-Not much doing. A few sales were made at about Saturday's figures, Lard—A fair trade was reported and the feeling was easy. Prices declined 2½@5c and closed rather tame.
Short ribs—Trading only moderate, and the feeling was easy during a greater portion of the day.

Prices declined 2/4@5c and closed rather tame.

MADDOX, RUCKER & CO., BANKERS,

Having added $50,000 to our banking property, we are now arranging to move our office on the corner of our block, where we will be in a more prominent position, with better facilities, and we now propose to give more attention to the banking department of our business.

We solicit the accounts of banks, merchants and individuals, and will extend every accommodation consistent with sound banking.

Will negotiate loans on marketable securities. Allow interests on time deposits.

Having repeated requests, from various sources, to buy and sell stocks and bonds, we have concluded to deal generally in miscellaneous securities.

Will buy and sell on commission, state, municipal and railroad bonds, and all kinds of stocks.

We can place first-class investment securities to advantage, and we invite proposals from cities and counties, when issuing bonds.

We do a general banking business and invite correspondence.
